HIGHWAY SLAUGHTER CONTINUES—A Glens Falls man, Thomas Paul Richmond, 22, lost his life Friday afternoon on Route 209 when he pulled out to pass and collided with a car head-on in the oncoming lane. Richmond's death, in the car on the left, marked the 13th this year on Route 209. It was the 29th county fatality since June 25, making 1966 the worst summer in the history on county roads. A New York City couple, Mr. and Mrs. Eliahu Young, 68 and 65 respectively, were killed when their car skidded out of control and hit a culvert about mile north of Kingston on the State Thruway Friday. The three deaths raised the county total for 1966 to 47. The 47th death occurred Nov. 25, last year, which saw a record-breaking 56 persons lose their lives on county highways. Doubt 1967 Recession; Hike Likely WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top economic advisers to President Johnson say there is little chance of a recession next year.

But one, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, repeated his declaration that a tax increase "is certainly in the realm of probability."

Too Much Is Danger

The other, Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said Sunday the danger for next year would be "on the side of too much demand rather than too little." He said, "short of a sudden termination of the defense effort in Viet Nam, I see no prospect of a recession in 1967."

Each gave his view Sunday. Fowler spoke on the ABC television-radio program "Issues and Answers." Ackley appeared on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation."

Apprehensions Over

Fowler said that August apprehensions about rigidity in the financial market "are by the boards" in the wake of Johnson's anti-inflation recommendations.

Referring to a possible tax increase, Fowler said the President's advisers are "determined that we're going to pay our expenses out of current revenues."

Hay Blaze Near Veteran One of Three in Two Days

Mt. Marion-Ruby volunteer firemen in command of Chief William Scheffel early today fought a stubborn fire that burned more than 100 bales of hay in a field off Churchland Road between Veteran and Mt. Marion. The alarm was sounded at about 2 a. m. and firemen were at the scene until after 5 a. m. The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Other fires reported by Mutual Aid Headquarters included a minor house fire in Ellenville and a heating unit fire in Clintondale on Saturday and a house trailer at Modena this morning.

Okay Debate for Rocky, Three Others on Nov. 4

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has accepted an invitation to debate his three major campaign opponents on Nov. 6 — two days before the election.

But he has turned down a two-man debate that his Democratic opponent, City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, had proposed and offered to pay for.

After Rockefeller's statement Sunday, O'Connor renewed his challenge for a two-man debate in either of two half hours on which he has taken option on the evening of Oct. 7 on television station WPIX.

The Republican governor, seeking a third term, was being interviewed on WABC-TV when he announced his acceptance of that station's invitation to a four-candidate debate on the Sunday afternoon before election day.

Rockefeller, in rejecting a two-man debate with O'Connor, noted that O'Connor had rejected a two-man debate with Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal Party gubernatorial candidate.

Rockefeller noted that Roose-

Road Mishaps Take 3 Lives in Valley

Traffic accidents on highways in New York State over the weekend killed 18 persons, including a Connecticut man who was fatally injured in a Dutchess County mishap, a 33-year-old West Point serviceman who was victim of an Orange County accident and an elderly Brooklyn man who died of injuries sustained in a Columbia County accident.

Victims Identified

Victims of the fatalities were: John Carotenuti, 28, Torrington, Conn., who was killed in a head-on collision in the Town of Washington early today. He died in Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, at 5:05 a. m. of a broken back and pelvis.

William Himes, 33, of Altoona, Pa., who was fatally injured at 2:45 a. m. today, in a one-car accident in the Orange County community of Fort Montgomery.

William McCoy, 81, of Brooklyn, who was injured fatally when hit by a car on Route 9, Town of Livingston, Columbia County.

County Not Part of Toll

Three other persons were killed in separate accidents that occurred Friday afternoon in Ulster County before the count of weekend traffic deaths began. They were not included in the weekend highway toll.

Eliahu M. Young, 68, of 372 Central Park West, and his wife, Ethel, 65, were fatally injured at 5:20 p. m. Friday when their northbound car skidded out of control on rain-slick pavement of the State Thruway near mile post 92 north of Kingston and landed in a culvert.

Thomas Paul Richmond, 22, of South Glens Falls, was killed at 4 p. m. Friday, when his car was involved in a head-on collision on Route 209 west of Hurley with a car operated by Harry J. Royal, 59, of 77 Willow Street, Wilkes Barre, Pa. Royal's car was then involved in a collision with a vehicle driven by Harvey R. Core, 58, of Route 9W, Malden-on-the-Hudson. Royal and Core were taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Chief Deputy Charles Borchers of the Dutchess County Sheriff's office, said cars involved in the head-on collision at 12:30 a. m. had been demanding a debate with O'Connor on charges that the Democratic nomination for O'Connor had been rigged by party "bosses" more than a year ago.

The fourth gubernatorial candidate of a party with automatic ballot status is Paul L. Adams, a nominee of the Conservative Party.

Petition candidates, such as those of the Socialist Workers Party and the Socialist Labor Party, also are expected.

A spokesman for O'Connor said he probably would accept the four-candidate debate proposal, "but it's not the one we really desire."

The spokesman also said there had been bids by other television stations for a debate on Nov. 6, and he suggested that a pooled program on all outlets — possibly including the petition candidate — might be worth considering.

Rockefeller, during his Sunday television appearance and in talks with newsmen, said New York City has an unemployment problem that is dangerous right now.

Therefore, he said, the state today on Route 343, Town of Washington, were driven by Gerald Ciesco, 19, of 31 Torrington Heights Road, Torrington, Conn., and Peter J. Hagan, 22, of Cider Hill Road, Stamford, Conn.

Held for Hearing

Borchers said Carotenuti was a passenger in the 1964 car driven by Ciesco, who was treated at Vassar Hospital for lacerations over the left eye. Ciesco was held for hearing on charges of drunken driving, reckless driving and operating without a license.

Will Start County Fund Drive With Saturday Parades

Official kickoff of the 1967 Ulster County Community Chest campaign on Saturday will be highlighted by a parade of floats depicting services provided by the 13 member agencies agencies.

Others to take part include Troop 12 Indian Drum Corps, Barbershop Chorus, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and veteran's color guard units.

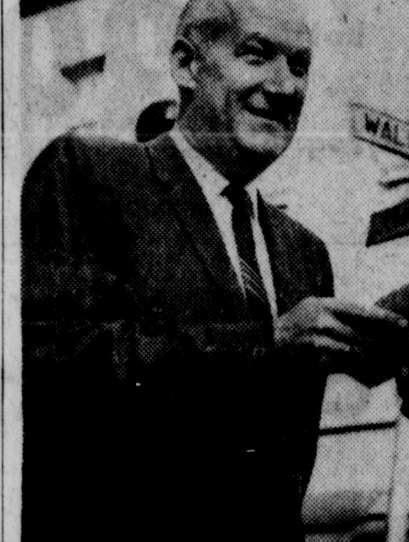

Parading first in Saugerties at noon, then to Port Ewen at 1:30 p. m., New Paltz at 2 and Rosendale at 3 p. m., the parades will leave from the Kingston High School at 7 p. m. for a parade taking them up Broadway, through the uptown section and ending at Dietz Stadium.

Officials said a "kickoff show" at the stadium will include talks by Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan and Charles Relyea, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. There will also be entertainment acts and awards for those present. Other highlights of the show will be the YMCA gymnastics team, and presentations by the Troop 12 Indians Drum Corps and the Barbershop Chorus. The show will be concluded with a fireworks display.

Awards for the show, with no admission cost, were donated by J. H. Byrne Chevrolet, Savings and Loan of Kingston, United Drug Store, Central Businessmen's Association, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company, McDonald Hamburger and Ulster Businessmen's Association.

At that time the committee will review the decision of the Department of the Army, New York District Corps of Engineers, and determine what approach should be taken now. Chairman Theodorus Musialkiewicz said.

Quiet 10 Red Guns Along Key Rail Line to China

Four Missile Sites Pounded, One Only 9 Miles From Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. bomber pilots reported silencing 10 antiaircraft gun positions in North Viet Nam Sunday along a main rail line to Communist China.

127 Raids in North

During 127 bombing raids in the North, U.S. fliers also attacked four surface-to-air missile sites including one only nine miles northeast of Hanoi. Navy attack bombers reported destroying a North Vietnamese torpedo boat 50 miles northeast of Haiphong in the Tonkin Gulf.

Ground fighting in South Viet Nam dwindled to small and scattered actions after a weekend in which U.S. South Vietnamese and Korean forces reported more than 350 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 176 captured.

During the raids over the North, a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing. It was the 386th plane reported lost in the war over North Viet Nam.

The antiaircraft gun positions knocked out by Air Force Thunderchiefs were part of a chain protecting the northeast rail artery 50 to 55 miles northeast of the Red capital, a U.S. spokesman said.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea attacked three SAM sites in the Thanh Hoa area, and the spokesman said they heavily damaged all three.

The fourth missile site, nine miles from Hanoi, was pounded by Air Force bombers.

Marines Hard Hit

U.S. Marines operating near the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam reported a possible kill of 60 North Vietnamese army regulars in a fierce fight Saturday. The Leathernecks were hard hit themselves, reporting moderate casualties.

In a pre-dawn attack over the demilitarized zone Sunday, Air Force B52 bombers hammered other governments must also approve.

The force would include Korean and Australian troops as well as South Vietnamese units and U.S. Marines already deployed in the northern part of South Viet Nam.

Communist infiltration across the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nams has become a major problem for U.S. and South Vietnamese forces.

Military sources indicate an effective force would need to total at least three regiments and possibly four — between 1000 and 16,000 men.

The South Vietnamese already have one regiment in the area and the American Marines lack only one battalion of having two regiments.

The Koreans and Australians probably could furnish only token forces, possibly a battalion or less each, because of assignments elsewhere in the country.

The American, Korean and Australian units would not cross into the buffer zone which flanks the river that is the actual dividing line between North and South Viet Nam. They would remain just south of the no-man's land created by the 1954 Geneva agreement which divided Viet Nam. But Communist intrusions into the zone from the North would give the South Vietnamese an excuse for occasional sweeps along the south side of the river.

First Step

The treatment plant is the first sewage control step taken by the city and is expected to greatly reduce pollution of the river, which downstream serves as a source of public water supply for Poughkeepsie, Port Ewen and New York City. The treatment plant is also expected to increase the recreational value of the river.

"The people of Hudson are to be commended for their efforts to end the city's pollution of the Hudson River," said Gov. Rockefeller. "This initial effort will help restore the beauty and value of this great waterway."

Will Serve 12,200

Designed to serve a population of 12,200 persons, the treatment plant will be able to handle an average daily flow of 3,700,000 gallons.

The total project, which includes improvements in the existing sewer system, will cost an estimated $1,105,170. Contractors are Bruno Trimpoli General Construction Company and Kell Contracting Corporation. Robert J. Ganley of Albany is the engineer.

Bartholomew F. Delaney, mayor of Hudson, expects to follow this primary anti-pollution step with secondary treatment in the future. The superintendent of Public Works is Louis V. Martin.

A matching 30 per cent of the construction cost is being met by the Federal government.

North Vietnamese infiltration routes and supply and storage areas.

U.S. sources reported three helicopters lost in South Viet Nam Sunday, one by enemy groundfire, one by U.S. artillery fire and the other in a crash.

Two crewmen were killed and two injured when one helicopter crashed in a mine field at Bien Hoa. Two persons aboard a helicopter knocked down by groundfire 21 miles southeast of Saigon were injured.

Flood Waters Rising

Flood waters continued to rise in the Mekong Delta, reaching rooftops in some sections of the hard-hit provinces of Chau Doc, An Giang, Kien Phong and Kien Tuong. Some 20,000 Vietnamese have been made homeless and thousands more face evacuation, but no deaths have been reported.

The first armed forces television station in a combat zone in Viet Nam was formally opened in a tape-cutting ceremony Sunday at Qui Nhon. The station, which eventually will operate 56 hours a week, will beam news and American television programs to some 24,000 U.S. troops in the area.

Sgt. Robert A. Martin of Albuquerque, N.M., program director, said: "We expect to have 'Batman' in two weeks."

Damage Running High

Typhoon Ida smashed into the heartland of Japan, the Tokyo and Mt. Fuji area, early Sunday while Typhoon Helen was still beating southern Japan with less ferocity.

National Police headquarters said the latest count was 197 dead, 123 missing and nearly 1,000 injured. Damage to U.S. military installations was estimated at more than $6 million.

Government officials estimated Japanese damage at more than $300 million.

It was the highest typhoon casualty toll since 5,041 died near Nagoya on Sept. 26, 1959.

U.S. Army headquarters said no Americans were badly injured.

Another Churning

A third big typhoon, June, was churning in the Pacific. Weathermen said it might approach Japan Thursday if it stays on its present course.

Viet Assembly Set For Drafting of New Constitution

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam moves a few steps closer to civilian rule with the opening Tuesday of a conference to draft a new national constitution.

The 117-member constituent Assembly hopes to complete the constitution in six months, paving the way for a popularly elected government by next summer.

Work on the constitution will be under way in about two weeks.

Dye Favors TB Hospital For Welfare Infirmary

Supervisor Douglas Dye of the Town of Kingston, public welfare chairman of the board of supervisors and a member of the Citizens Survey Committee, today advocated turning over the Ulster County TB Hospital at Golden Hill to the county welfare department for use as an infirmary.

Supervisor Dye said that a recent release by the Citizens Survey Committee implied he favored conversion of the TB Hospital to a chronic disease center.

Citing extensive studies by both the citizens committee and the public welfare committee, Dye said it is his firm belief that it is in the best interest of the county to turn the hospital over to the welfare department for an infirmary. "The county definitely should not be in the hospital business," he said.

He noted that the lack of infirmary beds for welfare department use is a pressing problem which needs an immediate solution. "It is not only an expensive problem for the taxpayer, but is also a service that the county is committed to fulfill," Dye said. "We have fine private hospitals that are required to maintain beds for the chronically ill."

For the services offered, the present operation of the tuberculosis hospital is very costly to the taxpayers, Dye said. He also noted that the care of the welfare department underwrites for approximately 150 patients in private hospitals and nursing homes is very expensive.

He concluded when considering the overall needs of the county, "it is evident that conversion of the TB Hospital to an infirmary for the welfare department will provide maximum service at a minimum cost to the taxpayer."

The citizens committee last week recommended that the TB Hospital be closed as a tuberculosis facility and be used by the county health department as a hospital for the chronically ill. Present tuberculosis patients would be transferred at Oneonta State Tuberculosis Hospital.

Prior to the survey committee report, the Ulster County Board of Supervisors had voted further study of the proposal to transfer the hospital to the welfare department. Joseph Fitzsimmons, county welfare commissioner, heartily endorsed the move.

PARTY FOR MAYOR—City employees and friends of Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan, numbering some 150, honored him at a birthday party Saturday night at the Twaalfskill Club. It was in advance of the actual date, which is Sept. 30 when he reaches his 60th. Music for dancing was by Pete Ferraro and band, James F. Gilpatrick was master of ceremonies and Patrolman Richard Scherer led in the singing of "Happy Birthday." Gifts were received from city employees and the presentation above is by Deputy City Clerk Eleanor M. Bruhn (left) and June R. Diamond, the mayor's secretary. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Japan Cleaning Up, Typhoon Toll 197

TOKYO (AP) — Hundreds of police and soldiers were pressed into disaster duty today to clean up the debris, restore communications and dig out the dead from the worst typhoon to hit Japan in seven years.

Ida hurled the most violent winds ever recorded by Japanese weathermen — 202-mile gusts — at the top of Mt. Fuji.

Answer 3 Alarms; Arson Suspected In Sunray Store

A fire of unknown origin in the building housing the Sunray Factory Outlet and Prim-Rose Fashions Inc., 83 Smith Avenue, Saturday afternoon was followed by another of suspected start, and one early today on South Wall Street damaged a motorcycle and two other vehicles.

A first fire in the Sunray store on the lower floor of the Smith Avenue building began in towels, throw rugs and other drygoods on a counter. It damaged the counter, drygoods and floor tile. It was checked when a sprinkler head was activated.

A telephone call at 1:02 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 5133, Smith Avenue and Grand Street. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company responded with Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge. Rapid, Union and Excelsior companies were on stand-by call.

The second call at 5:38 p. m. was for a blaze, which started in a clothing rack on an opposite side of the first-floor store. It damaged clothing and floor tile and was checked with pressurized water. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company responded with Capt. Sills in charge.

The building is owned by Martin Aaron, of 46 Spring Street. A call at 2:33 a. m. today was for a blaze which started from the gas tank of a motorcycle and spread to a car and truck on South Wall Street.

Firemen said it started when the gas tank ruptured. The cycle, owned by Hugh Harwood, of 356 Albany Avenue, was driven by Fred Perry, of East Kingston. The car involved was owned by Richard Seism, of 334 1/2 South Wall Street, and the oil truck by Vincent Fallon, of 228 South Wall Street.

Perry and others had tried to douse the blaze before firemen arrived. Units from Central Station responded with Deputy Chief Glynn M. Southard in charge.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The fine drizzle of inflation that dampened the outlook of economic forecasters earlier this year has now become a steady rain. Everyone is wet, consumer and manufacturer, worker and employer.

Most importantly, housewives now have been caught in the downpour longer than nearly any other group—mainly because food prices have been at the head of this inflation—and everyone knows a wet housewife is an angry one.

No consolation, either, to learn that the big manufacturers of our basic products are now having the same problem, for they might resolve their costs in higher consumer prices.

Inflation Basic Issue

Inflation now has become a basic issue in almost every home, the White House included.

So all-pervading is it that seldom can you consider the war in Viet Nam, disturbing as it is, without also considering the inflationary impact at home of our heavy military spending.

Military, government, consumer, business and labor have been competing hard for the nation's available goods and services, and in some instances, the rising cost of certain products is a reflection of this.

Prices Concentrated

The cost of living index shows these higher prices concentrated in an area disturbing to householders, in food for example, in items such as milk, bread, eggs, bacon. The housewife remembers she had been told food prices would drop. She is angry.

Moreover, vacations cost more this year and medical bills went way up. Back-to-school clothes cost more in some areas than they did during the summer. And compared with a year ago clothing was up substantially.

All this is causing a few arguments around the kitchen table after the kids are in bed. The conclusion often is this: "We need more money." Thus, more pressure is generated on upcoming labor talks.

Future Bleak

And look at what's ahead: In October alone contracts expire at General Electric Co., 80,000 workers; Westinghouse, 55,000, and Bell Telephone, 91,300. In January the Lady Garment Worker contract expires, 81,000, and in March the Teamsters, about 340,000.

Auto labor contracts don't come up for renewal for a year, but the heat already is on.

In many areas of the economy there is a dearth of credit available and the goods aren't always there either. Neither are the guideposts present to restrain wages and prices. But demand seems to be present.

In theory, nothing now can stop labor from demanding a wage increase and business from seeking a price rise. And, in trip-action fashion, one frequently sets off the other.

There are many kinds of banks with many kinds of bankbooks, but...

In our book you and your family come first.

This little book is part of the family. It's a Savings Bank bankbook, and a Savings Bank is a family bank.

Most banks exist primarily to serve business. But Savings Banks are different. They are concerned exclusively with you and your family. Savings Banks are run solely for the benefit of their depositors. Their earnings go only to you.

That's one reason why more families in New York State save in Savings Banks than in all other banking institutions combined.

Another reason is that your Savings Bank bankbook offers a unique combination of benefits: unsurpassed safety...and consistently higher interest-dividends over the years than other bankbooks, through good times and bad.

You and your family benefit, too, from the way Savings Banks put your money to work: in student loans, property improvement loans, and the financing of schools, stores, houses of worship, hospitals—and above all, homes. More than a million families in New York State live in homes built or bought with Savings Bank mortgage money.

In fact, just about everything Savings Banks do brings Grow-Power to New York State families. Think of that next time you look at your Savings Bank bankbook.

Every member of your family should have one. Just make sure it's a Savings Bank bankbook. Because Savings Banks are different, and the difference is all in your favor.

FLU TIME COMING

Falling leaves and swirling breezes herald (along with lots of pleasanter things) the approach of the flu season. But the good news this winter, according to the U. S. Public Health Service, is that any outbreak of influenza if it occurs will be minor.

Just the same, flu does strike a certain number of individuals each winter, and it's a good idea to season happy optimism with a touch of caution.

If influenza should mark you for its own, how will you recognize the symptoms? Answer: some of them are very much like those of the common cold, only more emphatic. The throat gets sore, the nasal passages are congested, there is apt to be a dry cough accompanied by chills, fever, muscular aches and pains. But don't get too alarmed; most people recover within a week.

Of course there can be complications—such as bronchitis, sinus trouble, ear infection. Sometimes pneumonia develops. Best thing is to call a doctor as soon as you become aware of developing symptoms, and stay in bed as long as he tells you to.

What about prevention? It's thoroughly possible for those likely to need it. Flu vaccination is recommended for those with heart ailments, chronic lung disorders, diabetes, and certain other chronic diseases. According to the Public Health Service, people over 45 and those living in institutions or other crowded environments also are considered "at high risk of" flu. Middle-aged men who are heavy cigarette smokers, and thus may suffer some impairment of their breathing organs, are considered by some authorities to be particularly vulnerable. Consult your doctor about flu vaccination for you.

Your Christmas Seal Association has an informative leaflet, "Influenza, the Facts." Ask for a copy—it's free.

Against U.S. Checking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., says he has "never seen anything to equal the outrage and indignation from government employees, their families and their friends" as that resulting from employee investigations by federal agencies.

The North Carolina Democrat, chairman of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee, made the statement Friday as hearings opened on his bill to protect the constitutional rights and privacy of federal employees.

John F. Griner, president of the American Federation of Government Employees, testified that government agencies are guilty of "shocking" invasions of personal privacy. He called Ervin's bill "one of the most promising and reassuring legislative proposals to be placed before Congress in recent years."

There are presently eight troops in the Onteora Neighborhood with new troops presently being organized in the Phenicia area. Recent activities have included camping weekends at Camp Wendy, conservation projects, a first-aid demonstration, community cleanup help and a neighborhood-wide Camporee.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

THE MONEY SITUATION

Today's confusion in the money market has influenced the decisions of many investors who are neglecting the common stocks of America's billion-dollar banks.

I have just spent a day talking with top officers of the five biggest banks in America, with total deposits of more than $45,000,000,000.

These bankers were frank to admit that billions of these deposits are earning high interest since they are savings and time deposits. At the same time, they said that the demand deposit accounts (checking accounts) are being well maintained and, with prime lending rates high, earnings also are being well maintained and cover dividend requirements easily.

One of the world's leading "wholesale" banks, catering to the requirements of 100 of America's leading corporations, has, at the present time, over $3,700,000,000 of demand deposits and $1,900,000,000 of time deposits.

Loans and discounts stand at $4,750,000,000 and, as these mature, the interest rate is marked up in keeping with the rising demand for money and credit.

Despite this fact, the stock of this well-managed institution (which today is selling to yield over 5 per cent and which carries sound growth) is selling 50 per cent below its price of 1963-1964.

Stocks of many commercial banks are selling at around book value despite their long history of soundness and profitability.

Previously, mention has been made of the top five New York City commercial banks, whose deposits are more than 45 billions of dollars. It is true that around half of this money earns interest; but the rest, which is in demand deposits, earns no interest.

It is probable that banks have as stockholders the most knowledgeable and wealthiest investors as a class in the country. For instance, the bank mentioned earlier in this article has a little more than 9,000,000 common shares outstanding. Yet it has only about 40,000 stockholders.

Thus, average holdings are 225 for every stockholder. A sound bank stock belongs in every well-diversified investment portfolio.

Money never loses its style. Money is an indispensable commodity. The American dollar in particular is the world's leading currency unit. The flow of money generates a healthy prosperity. It acts as a measure and a store of value.

From Boston to the Pacific Coast, there are many great billion-dollar banks whose chief commodity is money. Readers of this article who have never owned a sound bank stock might well ask a banker or a broker to suggest a good purchase.

Years ago, when I entered Wall Street, I bought ten shares of the stock of the bank where I worked as an apprentice; the cost was $900. Today, these original shares (through a split and stock dividends) are worth $15,000.

We gave up plenty when we broke off with the land of Bond and Beatles. We even had to create our own Mod look and give it our own name: "Modnicks". Take it from the top: Granny print shirt with contrasting long-roll collar and British Imperial cuff-links. Other far-out patterns and colors, too. Low-rise cuff-less slacks with swing pockets and stovepipe legs. Extra-wide belt with square metal buckle. Good thing the Revolution killed that Stamp Tax—now you can get h.i.s. ProducerReunites Tracy-Hepburn In Comedy Film

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Stanley Kramer announced today he will reunite Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy in a "social comedy," "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," which will also star Sidney Poitier.

The Columbia production will start shooting in February with a script written by William Rose, author of Kramer's "It's a Mad World" and of the current "The Russians Are Coming." Kramer will direct location scenes in San Francisco and interiors in Hollywood.

Tracy hasn't made a movie since 1963 when he was stricken with a lung ailment as he was about to drive off for a picnic with Miss Hepburn. Last year he underwent a prostate operation, and his condition was critical for a 24-hour period.

"I'm feeling fine," Tracy said in a recent interview, his pink Irish face beaming and he looked it.

"I read in TV Guide about television actors who turn down 30-35 movie scripts," he muttered. "Well, I haven't turned down 30-35. I haven't been offered 30-35. I turned down a couple, and they were made, and I can't say I was sorry I turned them down."

"I also have had offers to do TV specials. One was a good script. I accepted it, but Abe Lastfogel (his agent) didn't. Another actor is doing the show, and I don't want to mention his name, which happens to be Jason Robards. They couldn't meet my price, and I told them that when I do go into television, I'm going to overcharge a great deal."

"Oh, yes. I also got a letter from William Dozier, saying perhaps I had some grandchildren who would be thrilled to have me do a cameo in 'Batman.' My reply cited what Maggie Sullivan said when she was offered a Hardy family picture. She said, 'I'll do one when it is titled 'Death Comes to Andy Hardy.'"

"And I'll do a Batman when it's called 'Death Comes to Batman.'"

MISSSES VITAL POINT

The Rhodesian High Court has declared the rebel regime of Ian Smith unlawful. At the same time, it has admonished Rhodesians to obey it because it happens to be the only government in town.

This is the latest curiosity in a curious situation which finds the British Commonwealth of Nations, embracing about one-quarter of the world's total population—the majority of them non-white—unable to prevent 200,000 white Rhodesians from setting up a government excluding 20 times as many black Rhodesians. Commonwealth ties have been severely strained over the issue.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain has now given Prime Minister Smith until the end of the year to agree to some sort of plan leading to eventual one-man, one-vote government in Rhodesia. Otherwise, he will break off talks completely and never agree to grant the country independence.

Just what he will do beyond that, Wilson himself probably does not know. He opposes the use of force and is not enthusiastic about the prospect of United Nations sanctions against Rhodesia.

Comparisons, they say, are odious. None is more so than a comparison between the revolt of Rhodesia and that of the American colonies in 1776. The Rhodesians did, in fact, model their declaration of independence upon the one penned by Thomas Jefferson.

Yet comparisons can also be uncomfortably close to the truth. One can imagine the reaction of the Americans rebels had a court declared the Continental Congress illegal or had George III demanded that Indians and Negroes be granted voting rights before recognizing the government.

Even when the Constitution was written a decade later, Indians were not mentioned and Negro slaves were only counted as fractional human beings.

But the Declaration of Independence was an open-ended instrument. When Americans finally realized that the words "all men are created equal" meant nothing less than all men and nothing less than equal, the Constitution was properly amended.

It took a war to do it. It is taking much strife and soul-searching in our own time to amend the hearts and minds of Americans so as to implement the Declaration's companion phrase concerning "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." But the country is at least officially committed to the goal.

The world is supposed to have learned something in the past two centuries. Rhodesians, apparently, have not been paying attention.

PROBING EARTH'S HISTORY

Now that the Mohole project has been indefinitely shelved, special interest attaches to a deep-water exploration and drilling project being undertaken by the Scripps Institute of Oceanography with National Science Foundation support. This project, to be carried out during the next four years, is expected to add considerably to knowledge about the evolution of this planet.

Up to now, most drilling in the ocean bottom has been done in comparatively shallow waters. Though this has been fruitful, scientists now believe that more can be learned by drilling at depths of three or four miles. There the geological record of the earth's history is least disturbed. It is important, as man reaches out into the universe, that he go equipped with understanding of how his own planet evolved. The Scripps project should contribute richly to such understanding.

There are 308,000 U. S. troops in Vietnam—which makes it hard to recall that about a year ago Americans were worried about the number being boosted past 50,000.

WONDERS OF THE JAPANESE ECONOMY

TOKYO—Although things have been picking up here, thanks to "offshore" U.S. Vietnamese War orders and a retreat from the old "Dodge line" (named after a U.S. banker-adviser who frowned on "government investment"), the Japanese still complain about "profitless prosperity" and the disinclination of capitalists to order new equipment. But after talks with Japanese business leaders one is inclined to believe that much of the complaining is due to the Japanese habit of self-depreciation. These islands are not, repeat not, inhabited by Texans; they talk "poor mouth" here as a matter of politeness.

For all of the slow motion in what Shigeo Kurebayashi, the research director of the Fuji Bank, calls a "low-pressure" economy, there is good growing weather here for industrial greatness. The clearest proof of it is, perhaps, the Fuji Bank itself, which is imitating the Bank of America in California by going after little business as well as big, and is driving ahead on a program that has increased its deposits by twenty-five per cent in a little over two years. It has recently built the tallest skyscraper in downtown Tokyo, but the working heart of its business is in the 206 branches it has elsewhere. The Fuji, known as the Yasuda before the war, was the smallest of the so-called zaibatsu banks, which were run for the benefit of the four big family cartels, or "trusts," of the Mitsui, the Mitsubishi, the Sumitomo, and the Yasuda clans. The McArthur decree, which broke up the big trusts, hit hard at the Mitsui bank, which has slipped to fourth. But it proved the liberation of the mountain and move into the new world. Now old Mitsui concerns come to the Fuji for money as a matter of course.

Another evidence of the latent strength of the Japanese economy is the huge Fukuyama steel-making complex that has just gone into operation near Hiroshima on the Inland Sea. This compares with anything that U. S. Steel or Bethlehem can show at Gary or Burns Harbor in Indiana. All of Fukuyama's many operations will be run by computer controls, and its capacity, when completed, will be around eight million tons a year. The truly interesting thing about Fukuyama is that its plant was built entirely on land reclaimed from the sea. The cost of pumping the foundations from the sea bottom was one-half of what it would have cost to purchase good industrial site land elsewhere in tiny, crowded Japan, and this despite the fact that "mountain soil"—or rock—had to be brought in to provide special support for some of the heaviest equipment. Built with water on three sides, Fukuyama can berth its raw material supply ships on one side to feed blast furnace operations, and then move the steel through its various phases to the other side, where it goes out as a finished product to the ships that carry it away. This "straight-line production" enables Fukuyama to do away with the back-tracking, or the "little railroads," that plague steel making elsewhere in Japan. "You cut half of the costs this way," says Kinzo Matzuo, the managing director of the Nippon Kokan concern which has committed $278 million to date for Fukuyama, including $30 million for the land reclamation that began it all.

A third wonder of the Japanese economy is the "bullet express" train that runs for some three hundred and seventy-five miles between Tokyo and the industrial city of Osaka. The cost of building this railroad, on special raised tracks, ran into millions. I took it from Tokyo to Kyoto, and it afforded quite a contrast to my last trip from New York to Washington, D. C., on the Pennsylvania during the air mechanics strike. Bowling along at well over a hundred miles an hour, one could type and edit a column as if one were sitting at one's desk in a quiet office, and even call Tokyo on the phone from the train to check a fact. The train has an electronic cut-off to bring it to an almost instant halt in case of an earthquake tremor.

There are complaints that the Japanese State railway system loses money (it was 123,000 million yen in the red for 1965). But if the "bullet train" contributes to the deficit, what a glorious way to lose it. The New Haven Railroad loses money, too, but with what ignominy! Modern Methods Defeat Cancer Disease Growth

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Cancer, once thought to be a disease of persons over 50, is now known to attack all ages. Indeed, more children 1 to 14 years of age die of cancer than of any other cause. Some cancers are present even at birth although they may not be apparent until later.

The onset of cancer is insidious and the disease is often far advanced before anyone suspects that anything is wrong, or, if symptoms were noted, they are often ignored in the hope that they will go away. The early symptoms may vary from loss of vision and headache to joint pains and loss of appetite. None of these symptoms are characteristic of cancer and they should cause no concern unless they persist for more than two weeks.

Any symptom that has become chronic deserves a definite diagnosis. If the diagnosis turns out to be cancer great harm can be done by taking the attitude that the case is hopeless.

When modern treatment is applied promptly many childhood cancers can be cured and, when not curable, much can still be done to prolong the child's life and give him comfort. One reason cancer in children is becoming more prevalent each year is that so many of the common infections are being prevented. Thus those children who would have died of diphtheria or whooping cough in past decades now live to develop cancer or to die of accidents—the two leading causes of death in children.

Unlike cancer in adults, 80 per cent of which occur in the digestive tract, genital organs or lungs, only 6 per cent of children's cancers affect these areas. About 80 per cent of childhood cancers are found in the nervous system, blood-forming organs, bladder and lymphatics.

The greatest advances in the treatment of cancer in children have been in the use of new drugs for leukemia such as vincristine, cyclophosphamide, busulfan and others.

Q—How soon should a baby's soft spot close? What would cause it not to close by 16 months?

A—Some fontanels are larger at birth than others. The large ones close more slowly so, although the average age of closing is about 15 months, the normal range is from 9 to 24 months. Rickets, cretinism and water on the brain are other reasons for slow closure. These can easily be diagnosed by your doctor.

are a surer sign of summer's end than anything you can read in Mother Nature. Incidentally, need any motorist be reminded that extra special alertness is called for now when children, school buses and schools are near?

Where did summer go? It seemed as if it had hardly arrived. The passing of summer always seems sad anyhow, yet that feeling doesn't last. A peculiar excitement, and anticipation of fall soon takes its place. All kinds of activities get going once more—sports activities, concert seasons, club meetings and dinners and politics.

The summer hiatus was nice, but it's good to watch the leaves turn again. Perhaps it's because we know it has to end that we like summer so much.

ATLANTA (NEA) — Despite sudden attack upon him by some white liberals, Mayor Ivan Allen at Atlanta seems sure to emerge from his city's post-Labor Day racial disturbances as a stronger figure than ever.

Responsible Negro leaders and sympathetic white spokesmen in this city simply do not buy any argument that the recent incidents demonstrate that the mayor or his internationally celebrated assault upon Negro conditions is fundamentally insincere.

Influential Negroes and whites do criticize Allen on important specifics of his performance, but they do not seriously question his motives, his attitudes or his courage in wading neck-deep into Atlanta's racial problems.

Most impressive to these people was his risky mingling with young hotheads stirred up in the Sept. 6 outbreak in Summerhill, close to Atlanta's gleaming new stadium.

For an hour and a half, Allen plunged from one angry knot of rock-throwing Negroes to another, trying to calm them down and avert stern police action. He told this reporter in an interview:

"Sometimes when I'd be talking to one group, another would be jumping a policeman just behind my back."

Most of the aroused Negroes did not know who he was. Some, he found, did not know WHAT a mayor was. While he milled around, some policemen helplessly muttered fears for his safety.

An experienced Negro civil rights leader in Atlanta says privately:

"It was very significant that Mayor Allen saw the trouble first-hand, that he experienced the anger and didn't just read about it in police reports. He went out there when his very presence could have been provocative."

"It is good to know we have a man who cares enough to go in and see."

A white liberal, looking at the mayor from a longer view, says his determination to rid Atlanta of slums is "almost an obsession" with him. This source thinks, in fact, that others in the city's white power structure are sometimes annoyed at the mayor's preoccupation with this and other Negro problems.

A our of the two areas where outbreaks occurred shows that some slum structures are coming down, though many more need the wrecking ball. Summerhill is almost totally bad. The other trouble zone, the Boulevard section, has many solidly built dwellings but too few are in good repair. Fifteen years ago it was an all-white area.

These and other Atlanta slum pockets like Vine City are not generally large, and for the most part do not compare in squalor and meanness to the vast ghettos of northern industrial cities.

Nevertheless, they are focal points of despair and abject poverty, too easily forgotten in Atlanta's headlong thrust to constantly new economic heights.

Some of the very same Negro and white spokesmen who speak feelingly of Allen's dedication and courage believe that he has not really grasped the depths of slum despair and frustration, that he moves too slowly and too narrowly to eradicate festering conditions which could be growing worse.

All the blame for this is not laid at his door. Negro leaders often criticize themselves and their middle-class colleagues for not showing more forceful and imaginative leadership.

There was criticism of the mayor, however, for arresting SNICK leader Stokely Carmichael and other SNICK workers on charges of "inciting to riot." It was argued that responsible Negroes in the disturbance areas were effectively casting out Carmichael and his limited followers on their own.

Though experienced Negro leaders vehemently disapproved of Carmichael's tactics, a prominent lawyer among them said privately that one group he sat in with suggested quietly that the stir "might do us a lot of good."

The argument is the obvious one — there has been too much attention to Atlanta's shining surface, too little to its seamy underside.

The white liberal quoted earlier thinks Allen himself may see in six months some benefit from the outbreaks. Whether he does or not, he will continue to stand in solid with progressive racial elements here. They would not know where to find another like him.

A—The First Congress fixed the salary at $25,000 a year.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The old man and the boy made a team. They met when the old man came off his front porch and stood in weeds to lean on a rake. He wasn't much of an old man—a polished dome, molasses skin, black poached eyes and a belly like a store stove. Thomas Scott had been born a slave; behind him lay forty years as a Pullman porter.

No one knows why he moved on our block. He bought the old porch house diagonally opposite Sulz' Drugstore and he moved in with his skinny, crotchety sister in 1920. Nobody liked it. He leaned on the rake and watched the black-haired boy go by and he nodded and said "mornin'." The boy looked sideways and nodded.

Up and down the block the word passed from the Bishops to the Dolans, the Newells to the Lydeckers, the Mulvanys and the Reillys that a colored man had moved in. Ladies studied him from behind lace curtains. Sometimes his sister, Mrs. White, sat on a rocker on the old porch. She picked on Tom Scott. Nothing was ever right for her. Her husband had died.

The boy was ten. He wore knickers and black stockings and he was saving for a bicycle. He was a moody, sullen kid who counted marbles in his pockets and looked for suckers. He enjoyed fist fights because he was small for his age.

The old man and the boy saw each other many times. Sometimes, they spoke across the front fence. Tom Scott wheezed when he worked. Slivers of glassy perspiration gleamed in the sun. He got the front yard in shape, and built a mound of white stones and set geraniums in the middle.

Then he got lace curtains, like the others, and painted the house. One morning the boy asked if he could help. "You can't help unless you get paid," the old man said. The boy said his mother wouldn't give him a dime for the movies. Hedda Hopper was in Three Faces East. "It's about spies," the boy said wistfully.

"Ashes got to be carried out," Tom Scott said. He led the way into the cellar. There were seven barrels. The boy wheeled them out front and the old man took a coin purse from his sweater, unsnapped it solemnly, and lifted a ten-cent piece out. "Thank you," the boy said.

Little by little, the boy did more odd jobs for Scott. The old man gave him something he never had — dignity. He talked to the boy man to man, and he used the overly precise diction of a schoolmaster. "Did you tell your father you're working for me? How about your mother? Did they say it is all right?"

Mrs. White didn't like the boy in her kitchen. She sniffed. Tom Scott showed the boy through the house. He had a dark bedroom upstairs. The big four-

U.S. Might Cease Bombing Of North; Awaits Hanoi Bid

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Sometimes in the dialogues of diplomacy the same proposals scorned in the past are respected when they are given a new flavor. Occasionally this happens even though in substance they are not at all different from what has been said before by governments.

Ambassador Goldberg's address to the General Assembly of the United Nations was carefully planned in advance. President Johnson and Secretary Rusk approved of the meaningful docility, is that the United States is using every possible opportunity to make a bid for peace in Vietnam.

U Thant, Secretary General of the U. N., in his recent report cited certain conditions for an armistice in Viet Nam. These were not at all palatable here because they implied that the United States would have to withdraw its troops first without any commitment by the other side to do likewise. Even so, the American government feels it is wise to grasp the ambiguous words of U Thant and turn them to advantage by proclaiming to all the world that the United States is desirous of making peace in Viet Nam and merely asks a bit of reciprocity on the part of its adversary.

U. S. Spells It Out
There have, of course, been generalized statements heretofore which have emphasized that the United States is ready to sit down and talk peace, but not until this week has the government here felt it desirable to spell out exactly what would be satisfactory terms. Hence, there has been issued through Ambassador Goldberg a more detailed procedure or formula for negotiating a peace agreement than has hitherto been available.

First of all, the United States has now made it plain that it is willing to stop the bombing, but insists that there must be some corresponding action taken by North Viet Nam. Mr. Goldberg said:

"We are prepared to order a cessation of all bombing of North Viet Nam — the moment we are assured, privately or otherwise, that this step will be answered promptly by a corresponding and appropriate de-escalation on the other side."

The American ambassador recalled that the United States twice before had suspended bombing — once for 37 days — without any reciprocal action by the North Viet Namese and "without any sign from them of a willingness to negotiate."

While there is nothing in Ambassador Goldberg's address to indicate that the United States would in any way desert the Chinese on Formosa, or even approve of Red China's assumption of the role in the Security Council that Nationalist China now holds, there is no doubt that, if peace came to Viet Nam, Red China would make more friends inside the United States than she has today.

What President Johnson has opened up is chance for the Communist to achieve a stalemate in Viet Nam, and for Red China itself to be able to concentrate more on its own turbulent situation internally than would be possible if Asia were swept by a major war. (Copyright, 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

The United States, moreover, now has said publicly to the U. N. General Assembly that this government has no intention of maintaining any military bases in Viet Nam and that it is willing to let the subject of "reunification" be decided "through a free choice by the peoples of both the north and south without outside interference." The United States pledges that it will accept the results of such a choice and reiterates that participation by the Viet Cong in the talks "would not be an insurmountable problem." Mr. Goldberg added:

"Some argue that regardless of different views on who controls the Viet Cong, it is a combatant force and, as such, should take part in the negotiations....

"We offer these proposals in the interest of peace in south-east Asia. There may be other proposals. We have not been and are not now inflexible in our position."

Assures Red China
This is an explicit statement of American policy, and it is supplemented by Mr. Goldberg's comment that the United States has no intention "to attack, invade or overthrow the existing regime in Peiping."

But the speech was directly designed not to settle the question, for instance, of the admission of Red China into the U. N. or anything else except the struggle between North and South Vietnam in which the United States is playing a major role, with more than 400,000 troops involved.

If the North Vietnamese really want peace, the United States now has done about everything possible to make an armistice easy to bring about—provided the North Vietnamese and their Communist allies are actually willing to stop the war.

While there is nothing in Ambassador Goldberg's address to indicate that the United States would in any way desert the Chinese on Formosa, or even approve of Red China's assumption of the role in the Security Council that Nationalist China now holds, there is no doubt that, if peace came to Viet Nam, Red China would make more friends inside the United States than she has today.

What President Johnson has opened up is chance for the Communist to achieve a stalemate in Viet Nam, and for Red China itself to be able to concentrate more on its own turbulent situation internally than would be possible if Asia were swept by a major war. When he died, the boy stood on the opposite curb and watched the casket come out. He didn't cry. He was too grown-up. He watched it go off to some Negro cemetery and he did not follow.

Now the boy is in his fifties and he remembers Uncle Tom in his prayers, immediately after his own grandchildren. But civil rights have made the name choke in his throat. "Uncle Tom" is a bad word. . . . (Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

When he died, the boy stood on the opposite curb and watched the casket come out. He didn't cry. He was too grown-up. He watched it go off to some Negro cemetery and he did not follow.

Piston, Electric Or Turbine Cars: Take Your Pick

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer
DETROIT (AP) — One of Detroit's day-dreams made headlines this week while another waited in the wings.
Ford disclosed that it was experimenting with a battery-powered electric car and would test one in England next year.
Ford officials conceded the electric car probably was 10 years away from becoming a reality again on American highways.

Experiment With Turbines

Chrysler, with over 1.3 million miles logged on its fleet of 50 sleek experimental turbine cars, said it was still undecided whether the car had a future on the American highway.

The turbine we are now using in our latest experimental car is a fifth generation one, a much improved version of the first one we tried in 1954," a Chrysler spokesman said.

The turbine engine, one of whose features is the familiar whoosh sound associated with jet airplane engines, has been one of the most discussed programs in the auto industry.

It has less than one-sixth as many parts as a conventional piston engine. It operates when compressed air and fuel are ignited in a combustion chamber. The heated gas is then ducted to turn the vanes of a turbine wheel which provides the vehicle's power.

Chrysler's turbines have run on fuel ranging from perfume to brandy, from white kerosene to alcohol. Chrysler engineers are convinced white kerosene is the best fuel available at this time.

General Motors and Ford have run similar turbine-type engines in large experimental trucks. Both contend the turbine road vehicle will not be practical until the 1970s, because much research remains to be done.

Unlike Chrysler, they felt the turbine unit was best suited to heavy duty trucks rather than passenger cars.

Chrysler had Ghia of Italy design 50 glamorous car bodies to house the turbine engines. The cars were turned over to more than 200 volunteers out of thousands of drivers who asked for a chance to drive one for a few days.

The "lend and drive them" program is over as far as the general public is concerned. Some of the cars still are in a program in which key executives of various types of businesses across the country have been asked to try the new turbine car.

American Trying Too
American Motors joined the experimental power plant trend in 1964 when, with Renault of France, it sought to develop a rotary engine which reportedly would offer 70 per cent more efficiency than current piston-powered plants.

None of the auto companies has given any specific indication when the dream power plants will become a reality. They only talk "maybe in the 1970s."

Monthly Hospital

Bus From Area to Leave Wednesday

The monthly bus to Middletown State Hospital from the

Kingston-New Paltz area will run Wednesday, Sept. 28, officials said. This is one of the services of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, a voluntary organization supported entirely by voluntary contributions, a member of the Community Chest of Ulster County.

Regular weekly visiting afternoons at Middletown State Hospital are on Sunday and Wednesday. The special bus runs once a month, alternating between the last Sunday and the last Wednesday.

The schedule is as follows:

Kingston, Park Diner, 11:45 a. m.; Rosendale, The Elms, route 32, 12 noon; New Paltz, Grand Union, corner of Main and North Chestnut, 12:10 p. m.

If requested in advance, the bus will also stop in Wallkill, Walden, or Montgomery.

The bus leaves the hospital at 4 p. m. and returns to Kingston by 5:30 p. m., stopping as requested on the return journey. Further information may be obtained from the executive secretary of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street, on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Fridays. Demonstration Cities Program

"By the year 2000 four out of five Americans will live and work in a metropolitan area." That projection made by the President in his Demonstration Cities Address of January 26, 1966 is at the heart of the Administration's concern for establishing a comprehensive program to deal with the multitude of problems which beset our cities.

Part of the problem is the result of a fantastic population explosion. The other has been the steady and rapid migration of farm and other rural families seeking jobs and the promise of the city. Unfortunately, another population shift has seriously aggravated the problems of the city. That is the exodus of middle class families to the suburbs.

The absence of this middle income group, which was the source of the majority of the cities' revenues, leaves our cities with the poor and the already stressed business sector to support an increasingly heavy load of services.

The riots of Watts and Bedford-Stuyvesant, the transit strikes, the growing incidence of violent crimes and the lack of adequate water supplies and sewer facilities — these are subjects which have captured headlines across the nation and they are subjects which are not far from anybody's back door. For if present trends continue the population of cities of more than 50,000 by 1985 will exceed the total national population of 1960.

Two Possible Answers

One answer is to arrest the migration to the cities by making rural areas more attractive. To achieve this end I have introduced and co-sponsored several pieces of legislation. I consider the most important of these to be my Rural Renaissance Bill which is designed to increase the availability of long-term credit for businessmen who wish to invest in rural areas. Readily available capital will enable industrious and capable businessmen to develop challenging jobs and new opportunities for the youth of our rural areas.

The other answer is embodied in the Demonstration Cities Program which passed the Senate on Aug. 19, 1966 by a 53-22 margin and is expected to reach the House floor about the third week of October.

The legislation is an attempt to demonstrate the results to be achieved by a comprehensive, concentrated and coordinated attack—using all available Federal State, Local and Private Resources—not only on physical redevelopment but also on social, health and employment rehabilitation.

At least 60, and more likely 70 to 80 large and small cities in all parts of the country will participate in the Demonstration Program. What is learned will be useful to all cities. By showing what could be done it would arouse the competitive spirit of our citizens and stimulate them to draw up master plans for their own communities.

In addition to the normal Federal share of existing grant-in-aid programs there will be a new Federal supplemental grant which will not require matching. This grant will cover 80 per cent of the cost of planning, development, and administration of the approved comprehensive city demonstration programs.

For planning, 12 million has been authorized for each of two years—FY 1967 and FY 1968. Supplemental grants of $400 million for FY 1969 have been authorized.

To insure against the possibility that some cities might use the program to allow Uncle Sam to pick up the tab for the debts they have run up the legislation specifically states that the funds may not be used for general administration of local government or to replace local expenditures already obligated for Federally assisted programs.

The focus of the program to provide the machinery for long range comprehensive planning for urban areas. One of the immediate and continuing needs of urban areas across the nation is massive additions to the supply of low and moderate-cost housing.

Wide Range of Sponsors

In recognition of the harmful social and psychological effects of relocating the poor under existing slum clearance programs the bill places strong emphasis on emphasis on rehabilitation of existing structures.

The legislation has a wide range of sponsors. Resolutions of support have come from the U.S. Conference of Mayors, the AFL-CIO, the American Institute of Architects, the National Housing Conference, the NAACP, the National Association of Home Builders, the National Conference of Catholic Charities, the National Farmers Union and the National Conference of Governors, just to name a few.

Editorial support has also been broad, ranging from the Kansas City Star, the Atlanta Journal and the Philadelphia Inquirer to the New York Times, Time and Life magazines. Time called the proposed experimental program a "realistic new approach to the desperate problems of decaying cities and poverty-stricken rural areas."

The editorial went on to note approvingly that one of the most important aspects of the bill was that it aimed at encouraging local authorities to initiate their own long-range planning, to mobilize their own resources and cooperate with their neighbors to remedy their ills. Money, although necessary, is not enough to rebuild a city. Local leadership and initiative backed up a reservoir of community support is absolutely essential.

Boy, Puppy Who Shared Lost Night, Parted for Time

CLEMONS, N.Y. (AP) — A three-year-old boy and a four-month-old puppy who shared a lost night in the woods as hundreds searched for them were apart today—but hopefully only for a day or so.

Jeffrey Guitart of Clemons, near the Vermont line, was admitted to Glens Falls Hospital Sunday suffering from exposure and a slight fever a few hours after he and the puppy, Jo-Jo, were found.

Jeffrey and the springer spaniel were lost from Saturday morning to about 7:30 a.m. Sunday, when the lad's father, Glenard, and his uncle, William Guitart, found him atop a mountain, about three miles from home.

The blond, blue-eyed Jeffrey suffered several scratches and bruises, and hospital authorities said, was "fair to good" after a night spent in 30-degree temperature amid scattered showers and snow flurries.

Jeffrey wore only knee-length pants and a light jacket. About 500 persons and two bloodhounds searched the heavily wooded Washington County area, near the Guitart home. Jeffrey's parents estimated that he traveled up to 8 miles of rocky, muddy terrain while lost. Guitart, a county highway department employee, and his wife, Marilyn, also have two daughters, Laura, 4, and Linda, 2.

Adams Says Gov. Abandons His Pay-as-You-Go

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is leading the Republican Party in the direction of the Liberal Party and has abandoned his promise of pay-as-you-go government, says Paul L. Adams, Conservative Party gubernatorial candidate.

Adams, academic dean of Roberts Wesleyan College in North Chili, a Rochester suburb, spoke Saturday during the opening of party headquarters in suburban Cheektowaga and the party's 53rd State Senate District headquarters in the nearby Town of Tonawanda.

It was Adams' first appearance here since his nomination. He said when Rockefeller was first running for governor in 1958 he expressed shock at the size of the budget of Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman.

"What has happened?" Adams asked. "Gov. Rockefeller has given us a $1 billion budget, a $2 billion budget, a $3 billion budget, a $4.8 billion budget this year and from all reports it will be $5.6 billion next year."

Adams also predicted that he would outpoll Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal Party gubernatorial candidate, "without any problem." He refused to estimate the size of his vote.

The Conservative candidate said there was not enough difference between Rockefeller, who is running for re-election, and Frank D. O'Connor, the Democratic nominee for governor, to "really make any difference."

LBJ Like Any Other Male in His Barber Chair

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is like any other American male in his barber's chair: Sometimes chatty, sometimes reading — but very interested in how his haircut looks.

"He's pretty fussy and very meticulous," says his barber, Steve Martini. "He makes little remarks about his hair. He's also very human and kind. He tries to keep his appointments right on time."

Martini, 52, is the son of Italian immigrants. Barbers have been in his family for several hundred years. He's been cutting the hair of presidents since Dwight D. Eisenhower borrowed him from the Pentagon barber shop.

"I just happened to be at the right place at the right time," the barber said in an interview. Last week President Johnson said Martini was one of his "most influential counselors."

Martini has a shop in Washington, but goes to the White House weekly to cut the President's hair. He operates in a little shop beneath the President's west wing. "I've seen and allowed half an hour for the executive clip," he says. "European style, with a razor."

He won't discuss his fee, but the minimum "under charge for going to a customer" is $5.

He says he thinks some barbers would make money if they had the President in their chair, but adds:

"I don't get nervous when it's someone important. The average barber is liable to snip him. With the President, the most important man in the world is sitting in your chair. You'd better be careful. A slip of that razor and you turn in your pass."

State to Build New Nyack Ramp Road to Thruway

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state is going to build a new access road in Nyack to State Thruway Interchange No. 11. Gov. Rockefeller's office reported today.

The State Public Works Department said the facility would be a 1,000-foot "ramp" running from High Avenue to the superhighway. The cost was estimated roughly at $250,000.

No timetable for the project was set. The department said it depended upon how soon the design work could be completed.

Beneath Road Signs?

MELBOURNE (AP) — Farmers in Victoria are hanging targets beneath local road signs. The practice has discouraged marksmen from shooting at road signs. Australians traveling in the country often carry rifles to shoot rabbits and kangaroos.

Open Bids on Highland Boys School Sept. 28

Bids for constructing the cottages at the Highland School for Boys will be opened Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. at the New York State Department of Public Works Administration and Engineering Building in Albany.

According to J. Burch McMoran, superintendent of Public Works, the bids will be separate proposals covering construction, heating, sanitary and electrical work on Buildings 39-43 at the school.

An Inexpensive Vacation

LISBON (AP) — Camping is rapidly becoming the national Portuguese pastime. More than 600,000 Portuguese camp out under the tents every year out of a total population of nine million, the National Camping Federation announced recently.

Physicians Say Wire Treatment of Cancer Is Success

CHICAGO (AP) — Researchers at the University of Chicago say that radioactive chromium wire has been used successfully in the experimental treatment of cancer.

"Six years ago a patient with a life expectancy of six months was treated with radioactive chromium wire," Dr. Melvin Griem, an associate professor of radiology said Sunday. "He is leading a normal life today."

Griem led the experiments at the Argonne Cancer Research Hospital of the University of Chicago.

Since the initial use of the wire, 10 additional patients have undergone such treatment. These cases, Griem said, are being evaluated.

As explained by Griem, the radioactive chromium wire was cut into short lengths and inserted into cancerous tissue of patients to retard or destroy the cancerous growth by radiation.

The wire used by the researchers was thirty-one thousandths of an inch thick.

Two Negligence Trials on Docket For Coming Term

Two automobile negligence actions in which a jury was selected at the September trial term of Supreme Court, were being postponed until next Tuesday at the opening of the October trial term.

After selecting the jury it was determined that there was insufficient time to try the cases at the present term and Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth this morning adjourned the trial until 10 a. m. on Tuesday, October 4, when the same jury will return to hear the cases.

One action is brought by Margaret Bartholomew and William Bartholomew against George Dickover and others. In that action Gaffney and Hill appear for plaintiffs and Cook, Tucker & Dwyer and Donald H. McCann appear for the defendants. In the second action, brought by Davis Locascio and another against George F. Dickover and others, Albert Boyar and Ewig and Beck appear for plaintiffs and Donald H. McCann, Smith & Formidoni and Levinson, Jenkins & Cassidy appear for defendants.

FDR Jr. Predicts He'll Be Ahead Of Demo Rival

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal Party's candidate for governor, launched his Upstate campaign today with a prediction that he would finish ahead of Democratic standardbearer Frank D. O'Connor.

"It will be a race between Gov. Rockefeller and myself," the son of the late President Roosevelt told a news conference in Albany. "O'Connor has slipped badly."

The Roosevelt agenda today also included appearances in Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

While most political observers give Roosevelt no chance of winning, he could conceivably influence the outcome of the Nov. 8 election if he attracts enough votes away from either O'Connor or the Republican governor.

At Albany, Roosevelt continued to hammer on the theme—also taken up by Rockefeller—that O'Connor was the choice of so-called Democratic bosses and not "the people."

"I'm running as an independent Democrat," Roosevelt said. "I haven't severed my ties with the Democratic Party. I stand for letting the people choose the candidate instead of the bosses."

Only a scattering of people turned out for Roosevelt's visit here to open up his campaign headquarters, a small, dusty storefront in downtown Albany.

Roosevelt told newsmen he had received enough money from the Liberal party and through his own resources to finance his trips. He said however, that he could not afford to buy television time.

Appoint Dave Bristol Cincinnati Manager

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dave Bristol today was appointed manager of the Cincinnati Reds for the 1967 baseball season.

President-General Manager William O. Dewitt said the 33-year-old Bristol was the only one who had been under consideration for the job.

Bristol took over as interim manager July 13, succeeding Don Heffner.

Bristol came to the Reds as a coach at the beginning of the current season and replaced Heffner one game after the Reds broke an 11-game losing streak.

Bristol, at 33 the youngest major league manager, never played in the big leagues but had a good record as a player-manager and then manager of minor league teams.

Jury Opens Mafia Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — A Queens grand jury today opens its probe of what has been dubbed a "little Apalachin" meeting of Mafia chieftains.

The jury begins hearing the 13 reputed Mafia leaders arrested while lunching at a Forest Hills, Queens, restaurant last Thursday.

The 13 originally were to be charged with conspiring with known criminals—each other—but the prosecutor later changed his plans and the men were held as material witnesses in the grand jury probe.

Dist. Atty. Nat Hentel and the police have compared the gathering to the 1957 underworld conclave at Apalachin, N.Y., which state police raided.

Each of the 13 is free in $100,000 bail — $1.3 million in all.

World News In Brief

Say Government Failed

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Muttering against Gen. Suharto's government broke into the open today with an editorial in a leading paper charging the government had so far produced only promises and no action.

It was the first such attack on the government for failing so far to check the galloping inflation and cost of living. The Jakarta Times warned that if action was not taken soon, the people would lose faith in the government.

Rejects Resignations

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korean President Chung Hae Park replaced his justice and finance ministers today and rejected the resignations of Premier Chung Ik-kwon and the rest of his Cabinet.

Chung and his 16 ministers resigned last Thursday after an opposition lawmaker threw human excrement on the premier and four Cabinet members during an assembly discussion of a smuggling scandal involving a fertilizer factory.

Park said he held the finance and justice ministers responsible for the scandal over $11,000 worth of raw saccharine smuggled from Japan in the guise of machinery for a fertilizer company.

The assemblyman who threw the waste resigned and was arrested.

Japan Fails Orbit Try

UCHINOURA, Japan (AP) — Japan failed today in its first attempt to orbit an artificial satellite but succeeded in focusing attention on its space and missile program.

Around the country hundreds of thousands stood to watch a telecast of the launching from the Tokyo University space center at the southernmost tip of Japan.

No other nation in Asia has come so close to orbiting a satellite. The shot almost succeeded.

The four-stage rocket had a 156-pound satellite at its tip. Each of the four stages fired successfully. Japanese scientists said a mechanism designed to stop the last stage from spinning did not function properly.

The satellite went on course and presumably burned up on re-entering the atmosphere.

Malaysian Asks Help in Arranging Viet Peace Meet

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The deputy prime minister of Malaysia asked all other U.N. members today to help get a peace conference of "the immediate parties" to the war in Viet Nam.

Speaking in the assembly's general debate, Abdul Razak also urged U.N. secretary-general, halted the recent end of Indonesia's war against Malaysia, and welcomed Indonesia's impending return to the United Nations.

Deploping Communist China's demands for a reorganized United Nations, Razak said Formosa "should be allowed to remain a member of the United Nations while mainland China could be admitted to this organization if she so desires."

A Real Threat

"To us in Southeast Asia," he declared, "the Viet Nam conflict poses a real and proximate threat to the peace, progress, safety and security of the whole region."

Razak said Malaysia would "continue to take every necessary and appropriate initiative open to it on a comprehensive all-Asian basis to seek an Asian solution to the problem."

"It should be left to the parties involved to find a formula to solve their problems and our efforts should be directed solely to bringing them together, not to suggest, much less impose, a solution," Razak said.

Invite Asian Nations

Razak, Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand and Narciso Ramos last month invited 17 Asian countries to make a joint appeal to the warring forces in Viet Nam for a peaceful and honorable settlement reached at an Asian conference.

South Viet Nam endorsed the peace move, North Viet Nam and Communist China rejected it.

Pilot Error Is Blamed for Crash Killing RFK Kin

RIGGINS, Idaho (AP) — Pilot error has been blamed by authorities for an airplane crash which killed five men — one of them a brother-in-law of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — Friday in the Idaho Primitive Area.

The dead included George Skakel Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., a New York business executive and brother of the New York Democrat's wife, Ethel. His death added one more name to the list of Kennedys and relatives killed or injured in air crashes.

Others killed in Friday's crash were Dean F. Markham of McLean, Va., 41, a friend of Senator Kennedy; Louis Werner II, 42, St. Louis banker and financier and director of the St. Louis Regional office of the Central Intelligence Agency; Earl Ranft, 63, of Jersey City, N.J., president of the Dabar Haulage Co., a trucking firm; and the pilot, Donald W. Adams, 38, of Mountain Home Air Force Base in Idaho, formerly of Clinton, Okla.

On Hearing Trip

The men were among a party of 20 who were flying into the remote Sheep Creek Ranch just off Salmon River to go all hunting.

Their plane overshot the Sheep Creek airstrip deep in the Salmon River Gorge, 40 miles east of Riggins, and crashed into the creek bed as the pilot attempted a climbing turn out of the steep canyon.

Idaho aeronautics director Chet Moulton criticized Adams for even attempting to land at the airstrip in the Central Idaho Primitive Area.

Not Equipped

"It was a case of a man talking on more than he was equipped for," Moulton said.

A plane, on the final approach, is committed to land at the one-way strip — or else — and landing there "is a calculated risk unless you are proficient," he said.

Moulton also said the same basic problem — lack of mountain flying experience — has caused two other fatal crashes in the Idaho Primitive Area this summer. Idaho's Democratic gubernatorial candidate Charles Herndon and two Oldham businessmen died in a crash 12 days ago. An earlier crash killed a family of three.

Bodies to Boise

Their bodies were taken from the crash site Saturday afternoon by helicopter to Boise, where they were flown east on a plane owned by Skakel's company.

Senator Kennedy canceled a weekend political tour in New England because of the death of his brother-in-law.

In Colorado, his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., also canceled the rest of a political speaking tour which would have taken him into Utah and Wyoming.

Of those killed, Skakel was president of the Great Lakes Carbon Corp. of New York and Maryland was in charge of Great Lakes' Washington office.

Was Flight Instructor

Adams was a master sergeant and had been a pilot for about 10 years. He was a flight instructor at the Mountain Home Airport, and flew part-time for Rancho Idaho, Inc., a Southwest Idaho subsidiary of Great Lakes Carbon Corp.

A plane crash claimed the lives of the parents of Ethel Kennedy and George Skakel in Oklahoma in 1955.

Child Hurt as Car Door Swings Open

A child was injured at 5:15 p. m. Saturday when she reportedly fell from a car as the door swung open on Sawdust Avenue, Town of Rosendale, according to Trooper Thomas Seales of Kingston station.

Sergeant Charles L. Bundschub reported Dorothy Craig, 22, of RD 6, Kingston, was driving her car on the avenue when the door swung open as she made a left turn into a driveway. Lori Craig, 1 1/2, fell from the car and sustained possible head injuries.

The child was taken to Benedictine Hospital for examination and treatment.

Vote to Dismiss Pastor

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Members of a Baptist church on the Mercer University campus have voted to dismiss their pastor and two other staff workers who had pressed for an open-door policy for Negroes.

The dismissals, approved 290 to 189 Sunday, came shortly after members of the Fairmount Square Baptist Church forcibly removed from the church a Negro student from Ghana who attempted to attend the services.

Those dismissed were Dr. Thomas J. Holmes, the pastor; the Rev. Douglas Johnson, the associate pastor; and Jack W. Jones, the music director.

The membership voted 286 to 100 last summer to remain segregated.

Segregationists March

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A segregation group's march to a downtown Negro district touched off rock-throwing and raised some question whether a similar march scheduled tonight would be permitted.

Some windows were broken and a dozen automobiles were smashed Sunday night as crowds of Negroes gathered at the approach of Warren Fellows, a Jacksonville barber and militant segregationist, and his followers.

Folks and his group, which included two women, carried placards that criticized integration of a city swimming pool and assignment of Negro policemen to downtown beats.

The president of The Mid-Hudson Industrial Association, Thomas H. Whitney, vice president and manager of the Eastern Division of Western Printing and Lithographic Co., will preside at the meeting, which is open to all members, their associates and guests.

Fire Destroys Landmark

PULTEYVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Fire early today destroyed this Wayne County resort's best known landmark, a large frame structure that housed a general store for 60 years.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Five firemen were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation. Samuel LaBue, owner of the structure, was unable to immediately estimate his loss, but said he had purchased the building six months ago for $1,000.

In addition to the store, the building housed an ice cream parlor; a garage and LaBue's apartment. The loss also included LaBue's personal property and the stock in the store.

LaBue discovered the fire when he returned home shortly after midnight.

Three Jersey Men Rescued From Old Mine in Garrison

GARRISON, N.Y. (AP) —

Five adventuresome spelunkers from New Jersey went into an abandoned mine shaft south of here Sunday and volunteer firemen had to get three of them out.

The five dropped into the 75 foot copper mine shaft, abandoned several years ago, about 3 p. m.

Two of them — Robert Kiss, 22, and George Thresman, 22, both of Bergenfield — came out about 1 p. m.

But as the three others started up, one of them apparently got stuck and none could get out. They waited an hour while their companions summoned volunteer firemen, who dropped ropes into the shaft and hauled them free.

The three were Martin Schultz, 20, of Dumont and Joseph Hanneman, 22, and Alan Berquist, 22, both of Bergenfield.

Congress to Act

Water Concern Spreads As Shortage Continues

By JOHN KAMPS
AP Regional Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — With water shortages spreading, the present Congress has enacted major legislation for conservation of the nation's water resources. And the next Congress will tackle more next year.

Bigger projects were authorized than in any of the four preceding Congresses. And action was taken to step up research aimed at developing and conserving usable water supplies, to combat pollution, to speed successful and practical methods of desalting sea water. Weather modification (rainmaking) received attention also.

Matter to Come On

Certain to be brought up again next year, when bills left over from the present Congress will be dead, are:

Some kind of lower Colorado River legislation in place of a bill which now appears doomed for this year. That is the bill to authorize a $1.7 billion project that would back water into the

Hubert Compares LBJ and Bobby

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey spoke about U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today as he began a tour of California.

Comparing President Johnson with Kennedy, the vice president said, "President Johnson's view is a little more mature, a little more responsible, a little more in the public interest."

Humphrey, talked about Kennedy and his own political future on a television news interview, taped for release in Southern California tonight.

It began a two-day tour of the state in which he planned to visit federal installations and helping Gov. Edmund G. Brown in his race against Republican Ronald Reagan.

Humphrey took an optimistic look at his own chances for sharing the 1968 presidential ticket with Johnson.

Asked if the President had promised him a place on the ticket, Humphrey said: "In the realities of politics, the President is required to have an option. I don't know who he will want as his running mate. I'll give him the full measure of devotion and if I do that, you'll find the President won't be dissatisfied with me and we'll be walking side by side for many months and years."

Humphrey also said the war in Viet Nam will continue "for some time." He said, financing the conflict is "not beyond the means of the economy by a long shot."

The war, he said, takes a smaller slice of the gross national product than the Korean conflict and "I do not think you can say it is beyond the means of the economy to bear if we use restraint."

Detroit Suburb Calm for Family After Two Months

DETROIT (AP) — On the sidewalk in front of his home, 5-year-old Gordon Wright Jr. played ball with a neighborhood friend, also 5.

Inside, Mrs. Wright prepared dinner in the modern kitchen of the two-story red brick Colonial home.

Two other children — Joyce, 7, and Cheryl, 9 — were in nearby Ferry Grammar School.

And the father, A. Gordon Wright, 36, prepared to wind up a busy day at the office so he could join his family in their new $40,000 home at Grosse Pointe Woods, a plush Detroit suburb.

It was a typical family pattern, repeated in thousands of American communities — except for one thing:

The Wrights are the first Negro family to live in the neighborhood.

When they moved in about two months ago, they were the targets of hostility and harassment.

"There were cranks going up and down the street — walking, driving, shouting 'nigger, get out' — and I just couldn't conceive of running into this sort of thing in 1966," said Wright, a regional director of the federal Economic Development Administration and son of a Cleveland millionaire.

All is serene now, Wright said.

"We're being treated with friendliness and courtesy, and our two girls have had no problems in school," he said. "There have been no further incidents."

Other residents of Grosse Pointe Woods agree.

"The Wrights seem to have been accepted as just another new family in the neighborhood," said Circuit Judge Blair Moody Jr., chairman of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council.

"I'm not suggesting, though, that the problem has been completely resolved," added Moody, who lives about six blocks from the Wrights.

The problem is the fear of some homeowners that property values automatically drop when Negroes move into a neighborhood.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A trailway nearly 32 miles long, for walking, bicycling and horseback riding, is planned for the Old Croton aqueduct, which runs from Westchester County into New York City.

Gov. Rockefeller announced the plan Saturday, saying the trail would "provide access to the outdoors and recreation opportunities for millions of people in the years to come."

The cost of acquisition from New York City and development was not given. Administration sources said a public estimate might "upset" purchase negotiations.

The abandoned waterway runs underground, below an open, 66-foot-wide, right-of-way that runs much of the way from the Croton Reservoir, north of Ossining, south to Manhattan.

The governor, observing that

acquisition would present numerous legal and engineering problems, said there were private interests "to be considered carefully."

He added: "Every effort will be made to protect the privacy and amenities of ... properties."

The aqueduct crosses through and close by many private homes and institutions.

The Old Croton Trailway, as it would be called, would include construction of comfort stations, shelters, picnic areas and, where possible, separate trails for walking, bicycling and horseback riding.

Ultimate plans, Rockefeller said, call for extension of the trail to Falmestock State Park to connect with the Appalachian Trail, which goes from Maine to Georgia.

New York City would own and develop sections of the aqueduct within the city, he said.

Fried Chicken Symbolizes New Life for Young Texan Twins

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — For Nancy and Mary Freeman, happiness is a catfish that smiles, fried chicken and rock 'n' roll.

It's also a cat named Miracle, old coins, Greek legends, family, friends and school.

In other words, a normal life for the twins, now 12, robust, eager and apparently reluctant to consider what might have been.

For the twins' sisters, Laura, 9, and Stella, 8, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D.C. Freeman, each day provides a new experience, approached, they say, with a wonderful new spirit.

Attitude Has Changed

"The whole attitude in this house has changed, as you might imagine," said a smiling Mrs. Freeman.

The Freeman twins underwent surgery Nov. 5, 1964, when six doctors performed a transplant, giving Mary one of Nancy's kidneys.

Doctors said Mary's kidneys were too small to function properly.

"It was the only chance for Mary's survival," said Mrs. Freeman in an interview.

"There was almost no chance of causing Nancy any harm."

At the time of the operation, Mary weighed 37 pounds, Nancy 93. Mary since has gained more than 40 pounds and grown seven inches.

In Perfect Health

"She's a different child," said her mother. "She's in perfect health. We've had no problem at all. Nancy also has done beautifully."

Previously, Mrs. Freeman said, Mary realized she was sick, "but she didn't know the seriousness. She did not realize how bad she felt. We kept her going as much as possible."

Mary followed a strict diet and her activities were limited.

Refuse Food, Say Mexican Indians Are Not Starving

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Tarahumara Indians of Mexico are the center of controversy. Louisiana citizens have sent relief supplies to them, based on reports the Indians are starving. The Mexican government, refusing entry to 10 carloads of the supplies, says the reports are exaggerated. El Paso, Tex., Times reporter Bruce Bissonette visited some of the Indians. Here is his story

By BRUCE BISSETT
El Paso Times Writer

CREEL, Chihuahua, Mexico (AP) — Indians are suffering from starvation in Chihuahua. A child or two dies each day.

With a show-me attitude about the Mexican government denials of starvation among the Tarahumara Indians of Chihuahua, we flew Sunday into the vast stretches of the Barranca del Cobre canyons of the Sierra Madre Mountains. We went to the villages of Sisoguichi and Creel.

We visited with the Jesuit priests who devote their lives to the betterment of these Indians. Among them is Father Luis G. Verplancken—at whose request Louisiana citizens generously donated 10 railroad carloads of food, tools, medical supplies and agricultural equipment for the Indians.

Refuses Permission

But the Mexican government has refused to grant permission for the shipment to enter Mexico from El Paso, Tex., where the cars have been sitting on a siding since Saturday.

Father Verplancken, kind and soft-spoken, was emphatic in his denial of reports that from 100-200 Indians a day are dying of starvation.

He was just as emphatic, however, in declaring that a "terrible situation exists" among 50,000 Indians who live in the rugged wilderness.

Same Every Year

He said the current situation is "no different than it has been in other years." Whenever a drought occurs the Indians are hard pressed for seed the following year and are also short of food themselves, Father Verplancken said.

"Last year," he said, "we had a drought and the crops were almost nonexistent. This year we had an abundance of rain, in fact, too much and the crops which were already short planted because of a lack of seed, rotted in the fields."

Most of the Indians live in soot-blackened caves. The caves are about 25 feet in diameter and about the same height, but without a roof.

The priest started his campaign for aid to the Tarahumaras last August when he visited several Louisiana citizens. Mentioned to a friend and fellow priest that help is always welcomed and needed.

Plan Halloween Party, Church Dinner in Esopus

PLAIN TALK about saving money!

The man who manages his money wisely checks on his savings plan about four times a year, usually at the end of a dividend or interest paying period.

He checks on whether his money is earning the greatest possible return or whether an opportunity exists to increase his yield.

Have you checked your present interest return against The State of New York National Bank Certificates of Deposit interest rate — which is the highest in this area?

It could be doubly important right now, with all interest rates under continuing review by regulatory authorities. Today's interest rate on all State of New York National Bank Certificates of Deposit is guaranteed for one year and would not be affected until maturity.

GUARANTEED It is not a rate based on favorable bank earnings and cannot be withdrawn three months from now.

New Paltz College Lists Structures Built In Summer

Service group buildings and a new heating plant at the State University College at New Paltz were listed among construction in the State University system this past summer.

More than $306 million worth of physical facilities have been completed on the various campuses of the State University of New York in the last four years to allow a record enrollment of more than 110,000 full-time students this academic year, it was announced today by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Continue Expansion

"The expansion of the State University will continue at a pace unparalleled in the annals of higher education, with extensive facilities being completed over the summer for use this September, and additional buildings scheduled for completion this month and for use during the entire academic year," Governor Rockefeller said.

"The completion of many of the buildings during the summer, as well as those to be finished this month and next, was absolutely necessary so that the State University could accommodate what will be a record enrollment," Governor Rockefeller pointed out. Governor Rockefeller noted that as of September 1, 1966 work has been completed on 245 projects, including dormitories, dining halls, and academic buildings, while work is under way or to start on some 229 projects which will cost $427 million to complete. Moreover, 147 projects costing $231 million are in various stages of planning.

East Studies What to Lead

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

East started proceedings for the defense by capturing dummy's queen of clubs with his ace.

Then he looked over dummy's cards and saw that he, East, was in trouble. A trump lead would allow declarer to let the trump ride around to dummy's jack. A heart lead looked equally bad. A club lead would allow declarer a sure play against West's jack. A diamond lead would put West's king on the spot if West held that card. Then East noted that West's diamond king wasn't going to do him any good at all if he held it so a diamond was the only safe suit for East to return.

East led the diamond. Of course, West held back his king and dummy's queen won the trick.

Declarer played dummy's four of spades and finessed his queen. The ace of trumps failed to drop East's king whereupon South led a club to dummy's king and ruffed a club in hope of dropping the jack. When the jack failed to appear, South entered dummy with the ace of diamonds and led a heart to his ten.

West picked up the second defensive trick with his queen and promptly led back the nine of hearts. After this play, East was sure of a heart trick and the king of trumps and another rubber had been prolonged.

We feel that South should have made his contract by finessing against West's jack of clubs but this should not detract a whit from the excellent defense put up by East and West. If East had led any other suit at trick two it is a cinch that South would have knocked off the rubber.

Hurricane's Energy

Much of a hurricane's tremendous energy is released within a few miles of the storm's calm eye, according to scientists. In a single second, a hurricane discharges more power than several atomic bombs; in an hour, it expends more energy than 50 years' production of electricity in the United States; and in a day, can lift two billion tons of water from the ocean and hurl them back as torrential rain.

Hold Buffalo Man, Had Stolen Goods

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 29-year-old man faces a charge of criminally receiving stolen property after police recovered the bulk of a missing supply of drugs and toiletries with an estimated retail value of $80,000. The man, Richard Tompkins, of Buffalo, was arrested Sunday by police, hours after they and FBI agents broke into a warehouse on Buffalo's west side and discovered the merchandise. It had been reported taken from the Foster - Milburn Co., a wholesale drug firm here, Sept. 10.

Police said Tompkins had rented a portion of the warehouse. About 150 cartons of merchandise, covered with canvas, were found throughout the building, they said. Included in the loot were 5,298 dozen bottles of skin and hair lotions and other medications.

Police set the wholesale value of the merchandise at $33,000. Tompkins lives at 976 Lafayette Ave. The warehouse is at 60 Skillen St.

Bonanza Likely To Retain Its No. 1 Rating Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some season "Bonanza" like the wrangler in its story Sunday night, will find that old age has overtaken it and it will have to step down from its position as the nation's most popular television program. But, from the looks of things, it won't happen this year.

Garry No Threat

The competition offered by the new Garry Moore show on CBS, one of the season's big disappointments so far, does not loom as much of a threat. And ABC's feature film rerun, shows spotty strength depending on the quality of the movie and the drawing power of its stars.

But, more important, "Bonanza" has developed a reliable format and shrewdly uses its likeable stars who are now old friends of the fans. There is a story each week that has plenty of action and you can tune in late any time and catch up quickly with the plot.

Sunday night's tale was a fine example of the shrewd handling of the whole series. The classic recipe for a good western is to start with a fight and end with a big fight — and just throw problems at the heroes in between. "Bonanza" did just that, starting with a slugfest match between Little Joe and a couple of real mean trail hands.

He was saved in the nick of time by an old hand on the Ponderosa who after 30 years just wasn't as good on the trail as he used to be.

Phone Hour Pleasant NBC Telephone Hour in its new shape was a documentary filmed at the music festival at Spoleto, Italy, recently, providing an opportunity to tell the story of composer Gian Carlo Menotti, his dream of bringing together fine musicians from both sides of the Atlantic — and toss in some fine music as well. It was a colorful, pleasant hour.

ABC has postponed its "Stage 67" broadcast of an original musical, "Tympanus 7-0000," scheduled for Wednesday and will show instead a musical revue called "Where It's At."

3 Persons Hurt In City Mishaps During Weekend

Three persons were injured in three city traffic mishaps over the weekend, one involving a summons, and a car parked on Pine Grove Avenue was damaged this morning when it was struck by the end of a crane in transit.

Charles W. Rosa, 46, of 39 Fairview Avenue, suffered head, hand and knee injuries in a motor scooter mishap on Fairview Avenue at 6:45 p. m. Saturday. Police said the scooter "flipped" and threw him to the pavement. He was treated at Kingston Hospital. Officers Edward Ortleb and Duncan Greene investigated.

Hazel Hines, 69, of 125 New-kirk Avenue, was injured in a two-car mishap at Delaware and First Avenues at 2 p. m. Saturday. Police said she was treated at Kingston Hospital for head, leg, shoulder injuries. She rode in a car driven by Charles Hines, 71, same address. The other car was driven by Lillian B. McDonald, of 77 Gage Street. Officers Joseph Kivian and Jerry Vitale investigated.

Police said Edgar Barton, 19, of Port Ewen, suffered a whip-lash and was treated at the Benedictine Hospital after a two-car collision at North Front Street and Washington Avenue at 1:53 p. m. Saturday. She rode in a car driven by M. Pendergast, 19, of Port Ewen, and the other was driven by Laura Joy 20, of RD 2, Box 59, Kingston, who was cited for passing on the right. She is due in city court Sept. 30.

A car owned by Dorothy A. Narel, of Mosher Place, West Hurley, society editor of The Freeman, was badly damaged on its rear end when it was struck by the end of a crane being hauled out of Pine Grove Avenue into Broadway shortly after 7 a. m. today. The car was unoccupied at the time. Police said the crane, owned by William VanKleeck & Sons Inc., was being hauled by Raymond VanKleeck, of RD 3, Box 172, Kingston.

O'Connor Opens 1st Major Swing, Assails Rocky

By CHARLES W. DUMAS
CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—Frank D. O'Connor opened his first major campaign swing Upstate with a sharp attack today on Gov. Rockefeller's handling of State University expansion.

The Democratic nominee for governor said the facilities should be financed in a "straightforward manner" through massive bond-borrowing, rather than by Rockefeller's "back-door" approach.

O'Connor said Rockefeller had resorted to costly fiscal gimmicks in an effort to preserve a "pay-as-you-go" image while he was seeking the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

But, he said, the Rockefeller plan was proving most costly when it had utilized the bond-borrowing power authorized by New York voters nine years ago.

O'Connor said the state should use the $250 million university bond issue approved in 1957 and should prepare for "another and larger bond issue" to expand the university system. He did not specify the amount.

Mrs. Mary Evans, 50, of Airport Road, Accord, was taken to Kingston Hospital shortly after 10 a. m. today by Doctors Ambulance when she suffered head injuries in an accident on Route 214 at Eddyville. The car in which she was riding was involved in a collision with a truck owned by William E. DeCicco, of 200 Lincoln Street and driven by Thomas G. Zelnick, of 34 Chapel Street. Deputy Sheriff John McSpirt investigated.

Predicts Good Scrap
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon predicted today "a good scrap" for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

But Nixon, who would not commit himself to the race, said in an interview in U.S. News & World Report that the battle would not be fatal.

G-U Elects 1st Woman to Board

EAST PATERSON, N. J. — Election of Dr. Helen G. Canoyer, Dean of the State College of Home Economics at Cornell University in Ithaca, to the Board of Directors of the Grand Union Company was announced today by Thomas C. Butler, president of the Eastern food and general merchandise retailing chain.

Dr. Canoyer is the first woman to serve as a director of Grand Union in the company's 94-year history.

Nationally recognized as a leader in the field of home economics and consumer education, Dr. Canoyer has been Dean of the State College of Home Economics at Cornell since 1953.

Dr. Canoyer served as chairman of the Consumer Advisory Council created by President John F. Kennedy from 1962 to 1963 and as a member of the Consumer Advisory Council and the President's Council on Consumer Interests, 1963 to 1964.

Her articles on home economics and consumer affairs have appeared in numerous learned, technical and governmental publications in this country and abroad.

Dr. Canoyer served on the editorial board of the Journal of Marketing from 1941 to 1947, was a charter member of the Council on Consumer Information and was a director of Consumers Union from 1955 to 1958. Books by Dr. Canoyer include "Selecting a Store Location" and "R. S. Valle, Economics of Income and Consumption."

Dr. Canoyer is presently an Advisory Council Member, National Study of Current Status of Home Economics in Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities. She also serves on the Governors Committee on Consumer Information and Services in New York State, and as a member of the Woman's Council of the New York State Department of Commerce.

Dr. Canoyer is a member and former Director of the American Marketing Association. Other memberships include those in the American Economics Association, the American Association of University Professors, the National Education Association and the American Home Economics Association, from which Dr. Canoyer has received a national "Citation of Appreciation" in recognition of her services to the federal government and the peoples of other countries.

Native of Minnesota.
A native of Minnesota, Dr. Canoyer received her Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of Minnesota. She taught there, as an Assistant Professor of Marketing and Economics, from 1941 to 1944, and as an Associate Professor and later, Professor from 1944 to 1953. She received the University's "Outstanding Achievement Award" in 1956.

Dr. Canoyer is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, Omicron Nu and Phi Sigma Phi. She makes her home at 122 Texas Lane, Ithaca.

The Grand Union Company, the ninth largest food chain, currently operates 534 stores in 11 Eastern States, The District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Okay Debate . . . cannot slow its spending on public works as a means of fighting inflation, as President Johnson suggested to seven governors last Friday.

Rockefeller said: "The fact he hasn't asked me is an indication he's aware of the peculiar situation in New York City."

"New York City's history in terms of the economic vitality of the community is very, very bad," the governor told newsmen.

The Republican Campaign Committee announced Sunday that more than 30 figures in sports — past and present — have agreed to serve on a newly formed sports committee for the re-election of governor Rockefeller.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Emil Mosbacher, Jr., the yachtsman, and Chet Laroche, chairman of the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

Coxsackie Man Is Cited in Mishap

After his car went out of control on Riverside Avenue, Coxsackie, at 3:15 a. m. Sunday Charles Fetus Cook, 21, of West Bridge Street, Catskill, was cited by Leeds State Trooper E. E. LaPlante on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Trooper D. F. Sager said Cook was driving east when the vehicle went off the north shoulder, crossed a lawn and hit a culvert. The summons is returnable at a later date.

Road Mishaps

429 High Street, Torrington, owner of the car Ciesco was driving, was charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

Hagan was treated at St. Francis Hospital for contusions of the chest and right leg, Peter Spelke, 22, of 8 Valley Road, Stamford, a passenger in his car sustained lacerations of the right knee that required 15 sutures at the hospital, and contusions and abrasions of the right hand.

Man Serious After Ejected From Car In Rt. 23A Mishap

A 33-year-old Greene County man was seriously injured when his car went out of control, veered off Route 23A in the Town of Lexington, and crashed into trees.

Trooper D. F. Sager of the Leeds substation said Jack Ostrander, of Prattville, was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, and later transferred to Albany Medical Center. Ostrander suffered multiple fractures of the skull, lacerations and contusions, troopers reported.

An investigation by Trooper Daniel Perry showed Ostrander was driving east on Route 23A when his car went off the shoulder of the highway, causing the driver to lose control and the car hit trees. Ostrander was ejected from the vehicle.

No Comment On Offer to Union by American Airlines

NEW YORK (AP) — After the Transport Workers Union disclosed that its members would take new "strike votes" concerning American Airlines, the line announced Sunday it had offered TWU employees a record-breaking contract.

The AFL-CIO union had no comment on the latest airline offer. American said the offer tops the terms won by the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists last month after a 41-day strike against five of America's competitors.

Multi-Group Offer
American's offer was made to 12,000 nonoperating employees—ground crews, mechanics, clerks, communications workers and supply personnel.

It came after the TWU said it would take new "strike votes" across the nation in the wake of what the union said it considered a break-off of negotiations Saturday night.

The IAM won raises of 56 cents an hour over a three-year period on a base pay scale of $3.52 hourly. The agreement went above President Johnson's anti-inflationary guidelines which recommended that no wage hike go beyond 3.2 per cent.

Ship Fire Might Have Been Major Disaster at Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Coast Guard board of inquiry reported today that a fire which swept through a German passenger liner four hours before it was to sail for Europe would have been a disaster if it had occurred at sea.

"It is the opinion of the board that the vessel's crew could not have successfully combatted this fire if it had occurred while the vessel was at sea," the board reported.

The fire caused by a diesel oil leak in the engine room raged out of control for 6½ hours on the liner Hanseatic on Sept. 7, at its berth at a pier on the Hudson River in New York.

The few passengers who had boarded the vessel in preparation for its scheduled sailing were evacuated safely. Two New York City firemen suffered minor injuries. Damage to the vessel was estimated at $1 million. It had been scheduled to carry 300 passengers.

In predicting that the fire could not have fought the fire alone, the board said that within 15 minutes of the start of the blaze, the heat melted the main power cables causing a total power failure on board the ship. The loss of power disabled two of the ship's three fire pumps and its sprinkler system.

Report Oil Theft
The sheriff's department was notified Saturday of a theft of motor oil from the DiPeri Service Station on Lucas Avenue. It was reported the oil cabinet had been broken open and 52 cans of motor oil, valued at $32.40 had been taken. Deputy Sheriff John McSpirt was assigned to investigate.

Over 2,000 residents from all corners of the 28th Congressional District Sunday jammed the Tamarack Lodge near Ellenville to pay honor to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick. According to Raymond W. Tyson, a spokesman for Resnick, show business personalities Red Buttons, the Ink Spots and Jean Carroll also were on hand.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged irregularly lower early this afternoon although selected issues showed strength. Losses of fractions to a point among key stocks outnumbered gainers.

The trend was lower among autos, chemicals, drugs, tobacco, rails nonferrous metals, oils and utilities.

Some of the color television, graphic issues were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 284.5 with industrials off 1.3, rails off .8 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.00 at 787.97.

Averages were depressed by Du Pont's decline exceeding 3 points and by losses of more than a point by General Motors and General Electric.

On the brighter side, Polaroid ran up 4 points on word from the company that demand for its cameras is so great that cameras must be allocated to dealers.

Zenith, up more than a point, also put on a strong showing as it reported record sales and earnings. Fractional gains were posted by United, Eastern and Pan American airlines.

Most of the stock list, however, showed little ambition. Prices rose in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Woman Arrested In Woodstock on Narcotics Charge

Accused of possessing narcotics, Alexandria Grant, 28, of 25 Thompson Street, New York City, was arrested Saturday by State Police Lieut. A. F. Van Blaricum and Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman.

The arrest was made at a residence on Yankton Pond Road, Woodstock, on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten.

The woman was released in $50 bail after she asked for an adjournment to obtain counsel. The case was adjourned until Friday at 8 p. m.

Troopers Charge W. Hurley Driver After Accident

A 21-year-old West Hurley man was cited by State Police on two motor vehicle law violations Saturday, after his car was involved in an accident on Route 28 east of Route 375, Town of Woodstock.

Kenneth Way, of West Hurley, was charged with driving without a license and failure to keep to the right. The summons were issued by Trooper J. J. Brainard of the Kingston detail.

Way pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten, Town of Woodstock, and was fined $35, which he paid.

According to Trooper Thomas Seales, Way was driving east on Route 28 when he lost control as the vehicle entered a curve. The car overturned three times and went about 100 feet before coming to a stop.

Way sustained lacerations of the nose and abrasions of the face. A passenger, Bruce Duffy, 19, of Mountain Road, Ashokan, received lacerations of the forehead. Both were taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment.

Physicians Hurt In Taconic Crash

Three physicians were injured and a fourth escaped unhurt after the car in which they were riding went out of control Saturday on Taconic Parkway north of Hibernia Road, Town of Clinton, and rolled over on its roof.

Rhinebeck State Police reported Dr. Renato Serano, of St. Luke's Hospital, New York City, was driving the car when it hit the curb on the opposite side of the Parkway and overturned.

Dr. Victoria Gaspar, 31, of Grasslands Hospital, Valhalla, suffered back injuries. Other passengers were Dr. Josephine DeCastro, 29, Meadowbrook Hospital, Long Island, suffered chest pains, and Dr. Cecile Tesaro, 30, Grasslands Hospital.

The injured physicians were taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for treatment. Dr. Gaspar was transferred on Sunday by Doctors Ambulance to the hospital at Valhalla.

Fight Drug Pushers, Not Addicts: Marvella

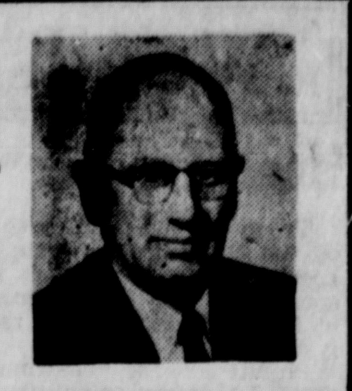

An all-out war against the illegal narcotics traffic, aimed not at its victims, but at its underworld directors, has been called for by Joseph A. Marvella, Liberal party candidate for State Senator in the 38th Senatorial District.

Marvella said he believes the narcotic problem is dual in nature. One aspect is the illegal market in narcotics and the other is the medical, social and psychological problems of addiction.

"Vigorous action is needed in both spheres," Marvella said, "if we are to make progress in the reduction and ultimate elimination of addiction."

Mutual Funds Move 'More' With Market

Q) "You've said very little in your column about mutual funds. Does a good mutual fund have the same future potential as a good stock? The eight per cent load seems like a lot." J.B.H.R. P.T.

A) My mail has recently been bulging with mutual fund inquiries. On the one hand, fund holders are disheartened by the drop in quoted values. On the other, more people are being urged to buy funds, or switch into them. First, may I say that fund portfolios of representative securities will move with the market of which they are a part. Well-managed funds, comprising well-managed companies, should be retained.

If someone wishes to buy a seasoned, diversified fund, a period of market weakness is the time to do so. I would not borrow money for this purpose. In general, purchases should be limited to those funds where the performance record is available for a reasonable period and the shares are widely held.

For the investor with limited means, funds provide greater diversification than he can achieve quickly for himself. Funds are also well suited to those with minimum time for market study and scant knowledge of investment techniques. They need the professional skill implicit in mutual fund management. The eight per cent sales fee pays for this and the salesman's service.

I would avoid shares marketed on a contractual agreement because a large part of the load is placed in the initial fee. The purchaser can be heavily penalized should he be unable to complete the contract.

A good mutual fund and a good stock will be pushed ahead by similar influences — a rising market and strong public interest in the shares based on good earnings and confidence in management. But since a fund is a portfolio of many stocks, some difference in individual rates of earning could create a lag even in a strong market. A single stock might prove more buoyant.

Savings and Loan Meeting Honors Kingston Citizen

MONTREAL — H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice-president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, was enrolled in "The Pillar of Thrift," honor society of the Savings Association League of New York State, at the organization's 1966 convention held last week in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. Membership in the society is limited to officers, directors, employees, and counsel who have 25 years of service in the field.

Twenty new "Pillars" were installed at the annual Recognition Night observance, bringing total enrollment to 960 since the award was established in 1956. All were cited for "steadfast support and enduring contributions to thrift and home ownership" on membership certificates presented by William H. Bodine, president of the League.

Note No Injuries After Crash, Area Driver Is Cited

Two cars were involved in a collision at 12:30 p. m. Saturday on Route 28 about 6½ miles west of Route 375, Town of Olive, according to Trooper Thomas Seales of the Kingston detail, who investigated.

Ornulf Bekklund, 47, of Brooklyn, was driving east on Route 28 and David Crispell, 18, of Olivebridge, was pulling out of a private parking lot when the vehicles collided. Trooper Seales cited Crispell for failure to yield the right of way.

The summons is returnable later before Justice of the Peace Bradford V. Keider, Town of Olive. No injuries were reported.

Full Day for Pope On 69th Birthday

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI, observing his 69th birthday with a normal 18-hour working schedule, today urged 1,200 Roman Catholic theologians attending a week-long international congress in Rome to debate freely but to respect each other's opinions.

The pontiff also asked the theological experts to "show the way to avoid errors" in interpreting Ecumenical Council doctrines modernizing the Church. In a letter to the meeting, he told the theologians to "link their debate with reality to prevent sharp conflicts."

Giuseppe Cardinal Pizzardo, of the Vatican Curia, read the letter at the Domus Pauperum, House of Peace — center, eyes the following rules. "In essentials, liberty in doubtful matters, charity in all. How many deplorable contrasts, how many sterile controversies have arisen owing to lack of charity," it said.

The Pope called for full and free investigation of theological issues before the conference, but cautioned for adherence to the essentials of the body of doctrines of the Church. He said personal convictions should never be upheld as established truth and praised exchange of opinions as a method of humility

Woodstock News

Hear Trooper On Bike Safety

Trooper Carl Van Wagenen, of the State Police, was guest speaker at a Woodstock P-TA sponsored bike safety program at the Woodstock School recently.

Phyllis Frisone, chairman of the P-TA safety committee, had prepared this first part of a three part program under the guidance of Carlton M. Conklin, director of the Ulster County 4-H office in Kingston. The program was an excellent one and was given in the school auditorium for all youngsters in grades three through six and all bike riders in the lower grades.

School principal Walter Van Wagenen introduced the speakers, including Trooper Van Wagenen, Carlton Conklin, co-chairmen Mrs. Frisone and Mrs. Olsen, and Mrs. William Eichhorn, P-TA president.

The guest law enforcement officer gave an effective speech on rules of safety for bicycle riding, care of the bike for safety purposes and accessories needed for safe bike riding. Highlighting the afternoon was a show of hands on how many youngsters in the audience owned bicycles. Amazingly, all but a handful responded that they were bicycle owners in answer to a question from the trooper.

Attention Needed

Van Wagenen emphasized that a bicycle is a vehicle which, like a car or motorcycle, needs attention, care and a safe courteous driver to follow safety rules and use hand signals. He urged that bikes be inspected often by children and their parents since many accidents are caused by such simple matters as neglecting to tighten handlebars or pedals. He said bike riding can be safe fun only when youngsters follow the rules.

Trooper Van Wagenen is stationed at the Lake Katrine State Police barracks with Troop C. A graduate of Kingston High School, he served in the Navy for four years; worked with naval security for two of those years in Japan.

He has played baseball and basketball with area amateur teams; is an officer in the local Rotary Club and a member of Woodstock Country Club, where he enjoys his primary hobby of golf. He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, on Tinker Street in Woodstock.

Plan Bike Rodeo

The next part of the P-TA sponsored program will be held next week and will be conducted by Andrew Shekitta, physical education teacher at the Woodstock School. He will prepare youngsters for the third part of the program, a Bike Rodeo. This will probably be held Sunday, Oct. 9, in order to allow parents to watch their children in an afternoon of fun.

Printed pamphlets on rules for safe bicycle riding were distributed to children attending at the conclusion of the first program. These had been supplied by the Cooperative Extension Service, NYS College of Agriculture at Cornell University and by the 4-H office in Kingston.

Planning UNICEF Drive Halloween

Plans are already underway to aid UNICEF in this area next month on Halloween night.

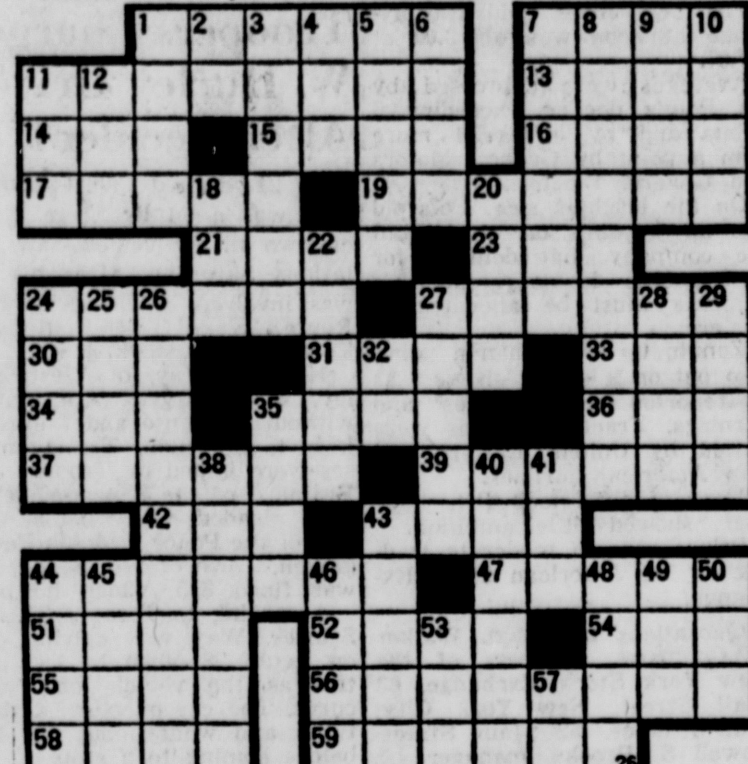

According to Mrs. Donald Jameson, 2 Whitney Drive, Woodstock, children of this area will be carrying UNICEF cartons on Halloween in addition to their regular "trick or treat" bags. The cartons are being supplied this year by Woodstock area churches and will be distributed in Sunday school classes just prior to Halloween.

Mrs. Jameson urged that when children ask for contributions to this worthwhile organization, winner of the 1965 Nobel Peace Prize, Woodstock residents respond generously.

Role of Education, Students Changed by Mao in New China

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — School's out in Communist China and the students are having good, clean, wholesome fun denouncing the university president, humiliating the teachers and pillorying nonconformists.

Chinese education, which over the centuries has produced gifted scholars and writers, is in disarray.

Since June, the boys and girls have been on a six-month holiday while Mao Tse-tung and his new chief lieutenant, Lin Biao, shake up the education system.

Less Study More Work
From now on it's less study and more work. When school starts again, liberal arts students will spend only one or two years rather than four in the university. The rest of the time they will get dirt on their hands in the countryside, the factories and the army.

All this means that more youths will be educated in a shorter time. But their education will be short on book learning and long on experience — Communist experience — and the thought of Mao in particular.

Work-study programs have been in effect in some schools since 1958. This year they become the rule.

Guard Formed in June
While school is out, the students are whooping it up as members of the Red Guards, the loosely knit, fanatic organization formed last June to harass the president of Peking University out of office.

They seek to blot out everything that is old or that smacks of capitalism, and make things uneasy for their professors and fellow students. Posters printed with oversized characters blast a teacher for being an "anti-party" element or single out a student who "follows the black line of revisionism."

Plastered with posters, surging with youths wearing the armbands of the guards, dotted with podiums from which youth leaders hoarsely shout their accusations, the campuses have lost their old atmosphere of quiet.

Marks Not Enough
Under the new system, high marks will not be enough to qualify for admission to universities. Candidates must be politically qualified as well.

Sons and daughters of the proletariat will get preference over the children of the former bourgeoisie.

"Education," says Mao, "must first serve the policy of the proletariat; second, be combined with productive labor; third, train cultured laborers with social consciousness."

Work-study students under the pilot program set up eight years ago get paid for what they produce in the practical side of their education. This presumably will be continued when the new program goes into effect at the university level.

Education Level Drops
What does all this add up to? It looks as if the level of intellectual life will drop in the new China. There may be fewer good poets, writers, artists. There will be more trained mechanics, agricultural workers, technicians.

The poets and novelists will write odes to production, to the thought of Mao and to the glorious invincibility of the people's army.

The aim of the new education is to find round pegs for round holes, holes chosen for them by the party, not by themselves.

"What will you do after your finals?" a recent visitor asked a student.

"I will go wherever the party sends me," he answered.

"Their jobs are allotted," explained a professor. "They state their ambitions but they do not choose their jobs."

Too Much for Robber

RESEDA, Calif. (AP)—Leonard Becker had rung up the sale of a bottle of gin and two packs of cigarettes when his customer drew a gun and ordered, "Give me all your bills."

Becker, 57, reached into his trouser pocket Sunday, saying, "I have a gun, too. Start shooting."

The liquor store clerk produced what appeared to be a pistol.

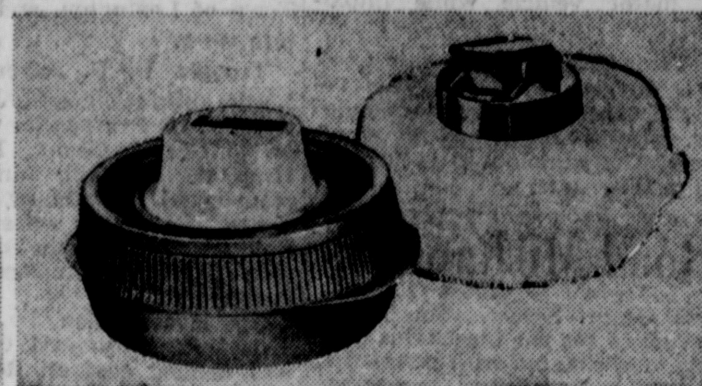

The robber backed slowly toward the door.

"Be careful, be careful," the robber implored as he fumbled with the door catch. Dropping his cigarettes, he fled.

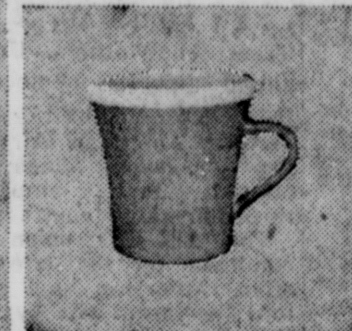

Becker set down his weapon—a plastic cigar case.

Candidates Take Opposite Views On War Issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Two candidates sharply divided over the Viet Nam war issue are seeking the Democratic nomination for congress in a run-off primary in a Manhattan district Tuesday.

The candidates, Rep. Leonard Farberstein and City Councilman Theodore S. Weiss, debated President Johnson's conduct of the war and other issues on a WCBS-TV program Sunday.

Flirting With War
Farberstein, rounding out 10 years in congress, strongly endorsed the Johnson administration's position as stated by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg before the United Nations General Assembly last week. Farberstein called for support of the President.

Weiss, a reform wing Democrat, said there has been a "fierce rate" of escalation of the war and the trend has the United States "flirting with nuclear war."

Weiss urged that the United States "stop all the bombing" of North and South Viet Nam and

"cease all offensive military action" to obtain what he called "a de facto truce."

Weiss added: "If that were then coupled with a clear and unequivocal statement that we would be willing to negotiate at the conference table directly with the people who are doing the fighting on the other side — that is the Viet Cong itself — it seems to me there is a great possibility we could settle this thing."

Both Jewish
Farberstein and Weiss, both Jewish, are contesting in the 19th Congressional District, where the 120,000 registered Democrats are about 35 per cent Jewish. There also are many Italian-American, Puerto Ricans, Negroes, Greek, Chinese and Irish-Americans in the cosmopolitan population.

The district runs like a fishhook from 86th Street on the West Side, takes in all of Lower Manhattan and swings up the East Side to 14th Street.

Seven primary contests in addition to the one in the 19th Congressional District will be held in the city tomorrow. The run-offs were ordered by the courts on the basis of irregularities in the June 28 primary that could have swung the outcome.

RR Experts Are Sent to Improve System in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tracks are often mined and the trackside is infested with snipers. But the Pentagon wants to open up the throttle on its use of the battered Vietnamese National Railway.

It has sent a team of railroad experts to South Viet Nam to study how the 1,200-mile narrow gauge line should be improved. Only 400 miles is now considered safe for regular hauling. But even bolstering that much would ease mounting supply distribution pressures, say U.S. officials.

The Viet Cong guerrillas hit the railroad almost daily. The Pentagon says it would require too many troops to keep the full length of the line open. The track runs from Saigon to the coast, then northward along the sea to North Viet Nam.

Rail service has not received priority attention because of the ready availability of sea shipping.

The United States provides locomotives and freight cars, but pays the government of South Viet Nam a tariff for hauling U.S. supplies aboard them.

The Agency for International Development says the United States has turned over to the South Vietnamese 48 diesel electric locomotives, 225 freight and tank cars, and shop equipment worth $7.8 million.

Peace for Viet Nam Still Elusive as Mouse on Beach

By JAMES MARLOW AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) —

"Peace is our passion," President Johnson said more than a year ago, talking about Viet Nam. But it has been a bleak pursuit. Peace is still as elusive as a mouse on a beach.

1965 Busy and Empty
Things perked up, in bits and pieces, getting nowhere back in 1965 which was a very busy year for empty peace talk.

In March of that year Johnson said the North Vietnamese must stop their intervention in South Viet Nam as a precondition for peace negotiations.

And Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the North Vietnamese would have to give some indication they were prepared to stop what they were doing before any peace talks could begin.

Then on April 7 in a major speech Johnson said the United States was ready for unconditional talks with North Viet Nam but at the very moment was saying it he laid down conditions.

He said the essentials of any final settlement were "an independent South Viet Nam, securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others, free from any outside interference, tied to no alliance, a military base for no country."

The North Vietnamese gave this the ha-ha. They said Johnson's proposal smelled of poison gas and made a proposal of their own a four-point program, from which they haven't deviated an inch since.

Among other things, Hanoi said, the United States must withdraw all its forces from South Viet Nam, although it wasn't clear whether the Communists meant before peace talks began or before there could be a settlement.

And the third of the four points was a dilly: Hanoi said the internal affairs of South Viet Nam must be settled by the South Vietnamese people themselves in accordance with the program of the Viet Cong, whom the South Vietnamese were fighting because they didn't want a Viet Cong program.

The U.S. State Department immediately took a dim view of Hanoi's ideas. At the moment, it seemed, sitting down to talk peace with the Viet Cong looked unthinkable, which is about what Hanoi was demanding.

U.S. Attitude Changes
But later Rusk said the United States would be willing to hold discussions with the Viet Cong but those guerrillas could not be a primary part in negotiations. As time passed the American attitude on this changed.

Most Draftees Pass Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says 81 per cent of the 767,935 young men taking its qualification tests last May and June scored above the passing grade of 70.

It reported that about 22 per cent of those taking the tests received a grade of 80 or higher, nearly 34 per cent got scores of 75 to 79 and about 25 per cent scored from 70 to 74.

The tests were intended as guides for local draft boards in determining whether to grant students deferments.

Johnson said later this would not be an insurmountable problem. But nothing happened. Then late last year Johnson suspended the bombing of North Viet Nam targets while he sent his top emissaries to capitals around the world, talking peace. But the North Vietnamese didn't talk back.

And on Jan. 31, 1966, after a 36-day pause, Johnson ordered the bombing resumed. Later in the year he ordered the bombing stepped up, this time against North Viet Nam's oil depots. The pressure on him to find peace became intense.

For one thing, much of the world didn't like the war. A lot of Americans didn't like it. And the war was gorging itself on billions of American dollars which could be used at home.

Last week U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, made a plea for peace before that body and a couple of days later Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a proposal.

As a preliminary to negotiations, he said, the United States would stop bombing the North if it just got assurance that North Viet Nam would start cutting down on its war effort.

This looked like another American concession. Instead of wanting proof that North Viet Nam would pull back its troops if the United States stopped bombing, this country was willing to settle for assurances — although it wouldn't take long to find out if North Viet Nam was living up to its assurances.

But Russia quickly brushed this proposal aside. And North Viet Nam rejected it as hypocritical.

Arsonist Blamed For $65,000 Fire

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Firemen say an arsonist was to blame for a fire that caused $65,000 damage to a 48-lane bowling center on the city's west side.

The fire Saturday was the second in less than a year that ravaged the one-story brick building housing the Peace Bridge Lanes. A fire last Nov. 1 caused $250,000 damage.

The bowling lanes were closed when the fire was discovered, and no one was injured. Firemen brought the flames under control in an hour.

Firemen said there were at least three separate fires on the alleys and two in a lounge. Investigators said they found three fiber containers, containing a wax-like substance, at intervals on the containers "plants".

The Fire Investigation Bureau called the containers "plants". Fire Commissioner Robert Howard estimated the damage. The building is at 4th and Jersey Streets near the Peace Bridge linking Buffalo and Fort Erie, Ont.

Virginia Poythress, Glenn E. Miller Wed

MRS. GLENN E. MILLER

Miss Virginia Haines Poythress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George William Poythress of 2 Hemlock Court, Saugerties, N. Y., became the bride of Glenn Edward Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Miller of Phenicia, N. Y., on Saturday, Sept. 17, 1966 at 4 p. m. The double ring ceremony, in which the congregation participated, was performed at Flatbush Reformed Church, Route 32, Saugerties, N. Y., by the Rev. Robert A. Hess, pastor of the church.

Mrs. David Bright was organist for the occasion and Mrs. Gloria Swart sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The church was decorated with pedestal arrangements of white gladioli and palm leaves and the family pews were marked with foliage and white satin ribbon.

The bride wore a floor length gown, made by the bridegroom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. William Miller. It was of white brocade cotton pique, styled with an empire bodice A-line with a chapel length train of self material, attached at the shoulders. The six tiered shoulder length veil of French silk illusion was attached to a pearlized orange blossom crown. The bride's cascade arrangement of white pompons and fern was centered with yellow gladioli.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Karen Miller, served as maid-of-honor and wore a floor length pale yellow and white brocade taffeta gown and her short fly away veil of yellow tulle was attached to an arrangement of loops of the gown fabric. She carried a nosegay of yellow pompons outlined with white pompons and fern and tied with yellow ribbon.

Miss Janet Poythress served as flowergirl for her sister. Her long gown of pale yellow voile lined with crepe was styled like the maid of honor's gown and accented with pale yellow satin ribbon and bow marking the empire line. She wore a yellow ruffled net headband with lily of the valley and tiny yellow bows through the center. Her gown and headband were also made by her mother. A natural basket of yellow and white pompons, baby's breath, statice and fern tied with yellow ribbon was carried.

Joseph Guglielmini of Phenicia, served as best man for the bridegroom and the ushers were Richard Whiston of Kingston, N. Y., and Cappy Foster of Woodstock, N. Y.

A wedding reception for 100 guests was prepared by the Ladies Guild of the church and served in Loughran Hall, which was decorated for the occasion by Mrs. David Arnold.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties Central High School and attended New York State University, Cobleskill, N. Y. She is employed at State of New York National Bank, Kingston, N. Y.

Mr. Miller is a graduate of Ontario Central High School and attended Orange County Community College. He owns the Leonard A. Ford Agency in Shandaken where the couple will reside when they return from their northern wedding trip.

Ann Lynn Millonig, Elbert Ackerman Take Marriage Vows

On Saturday, Sept. 24, 1966 at 2 p. m., marriage vows were exchanged in Old Dutch Church, Kingston, by Ann Lynn Millonig and Elbert Donald Ackerman both of this city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Millonig of 89 Clinton Avenue and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Emily Ackerman of 104 Main Street, Kingston.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old Dutch Church, officiated at the ceremony for the informal wedding. Dr. John F. Park was organist.

The bride wore a winter white ensemble for the occasion and a corsage of white roses. She was attended by Sylvia Gillett of Raleigh, N. C. Richard A. Flannigan of Binghamton, N. Y. was best man.

A reception for relatives and close family friends was given at the Neiuw Dorp in Hurley.

The bride was graduated from Interlochen Arts Academy, Interlochen, Mich., and is attending Ulster County Community College. The bridegroom, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is also attending Ulster County Community College and is employed by IBM.

Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman will reside in Kingston.

Fried Shrimp, Family Style

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know the proper way of serving French fried shrimp at a

Dear Abby . . . Marriage Gets Off to a Bad Start

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Five weeks ago my daughter, 21, married a 29-year-old man. The day before the wedding, he announced he didn't want to get married for "personal" reasons. All the plans were made and my daughter's beautiful gown lay upstairs on her bed. She broke into tears, so he agreed to go through with the wedding.

When it came time to cut the cake, the groom was nowhere to be found, which was very embarrassing. It seems he took the car and went riding around to "think things over." Since then my daughter has been miserable. She has a good job, but he sells on straight commission (no salary like he said he made) so she is practically supporting him.

He had two children by a previous marriage, which my daughter agreed to keep on weekends and vacations. Now, Abby, is this marriage worth saving?

HEARTSICK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: That is for your daughter and her husband to decide. Her first mistake was in "going through" with the wedding, knowing the groom was unwilling.

Calling it off might have been embarrassing and costly but not nearly so traumatic as the divorce which may be in your daughter's future. The couple should talk it over with their clergyman, and soon.

DEAR ABBY: What would you make of this? A girl friend of mine went to a party with her boy friend. She said it was a real lively party and she was having a swell time when all of a sudden her boy friend said, "Let's get out of here — this party is a flop."

He took her straight home at 10 o'clock. She found out later that HE went back to the party and stayed until 2 o'clock in the morning, and had the time of his life.

MRS. ROBERT MOULTON (Pennington photo)

Miss Linda Confer, Robert Moulton Take Marriage Vows in St. Joseph's, New Paltz

On Saturday, Sept. 17, Miss Linda Confer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Confer of New Paltz, N. Y., became the bride of Robert Moulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Moulton of Essexville, Mich. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward P. Monckton heard the exchange of vows in St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz.

Parades was vocalist, accompanied by A. Aiello at the organ.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white lace over slipper satin. Her veil, accented with lace motifs and seed pearls was gathered to a triple Dior bow of satin and lace. The bride's bouquet was a spray of Eucharis lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

The attendants, Miss Jane Oates of High Falls, maid of honor, Karen Dawkins, Kingston and Linnea Nystrom of New Paltz, all wore gowns of gold slipper satin. They were designed with scoop necklines, short sleeves and empire waistlines accented with bands of satin. They wore matching Dior bows and carried sprays of yellow and gold mums and ivy.

Richard Post of Baltimore, Md. was best man for Mr. Moulton. Terry Confer of Minneapolis, Minn. and Michael Confer of New Paltz, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

A reception was held on the lawn of the Old Fort on Huguenot Street in New Paltz.

For traveling, Mrs. Moulton wore a pink double breasted knit suit with black accessories. The couple will make their home in Chicago, where Mr. Moulton is employed by New York Air Brake as a sales representative.

family style dinner. Is it served on a platter with a meat fork, for instance?—Diane W.

Dear Diane: French fried shrimp should be passed in a shallow bowl or platter. They are served with a large spoon, and a fork, too, if you find it easier to manage with both. A gravy boat or bowl of tartar or other sauce should accompany the shrimp.

Birth Announcements Bear No Obligation

Dear Mrs. Post: Ann Landers feels that a birth announcement is a request for a gift. So, for our third baby I have sent no announcements. I don't know when I will have the time to write all my good friends personal notes. What do you feel is the proper thing to do?—Mrs. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: Much as I admire Ann Landers, I feel that she is absolutely wrong in this case. A birth announcement is just that — a pleasant way of telling your friends the good news. It carries no more obligation than a wedding announcement, and that means no gift necessary.

The correct marking of linens and the amounts a bride-to-be will need in furnishing her future home, are included in the booklet "Bride's Trouseau." To get a copy, send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

DEAR FRIEND: It's obvious. The boy had enough of your friend, but he didn't have enough of the party.

DEAR ABBY: How can a person avoid a situation like this without making himself look cheap?

My boy friend meets me every morning for coffee and a donut. Same time, same place — around the corner from where we work. Several of the guys and gals who work where we do sit with us because the place is always crowded. We don't mind that, but when the check comes nobody else makes a move to pay his share, so my big-hearted boy friend picks up the tab for everybody.

I suppose this sounds like I'm making a big deal out of nothing, but day by day it mounts up. Is there a way to get them to pay their share without looking cheap?

DEAR IRKED: Yes. When you order, ask the waitress for separate checks. That will separate the men from moochers.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

It is interesting to listen to Warren Johnson's Sunday morning radio program about Port Ewen and Esopus. He mentioned the higher school taxes for 1966, and so did George Hard the other evening on another radio show. Mr. Johnson had Robert Graves, principal of the Port Ewen school, as his guest.

Graves said that they had some 730 children now in the new Port Ewen School. Each grade has some 100 students, so they need several teachers for each grade. I remember when I went to Port Ewen School No. 13, in walking distance of my home then, one teacher had several classes. How times have changed. Graves also said, that 93 per cent of the children have to be driven to the school in school buses. That shows that only about 7 per cent of the Port Ewen school children live within walking distance of that new school. How come, the school was placed in such an inconvenient location to the homes of those children?

In my grammar school days, small schools were within walking distance and we could even run home for a hot meal, of meat, potatoes and hot beverage, and I do not mean hot dogs or hamburgers, which were considered carnival foods in our time. Coming home noontime also meant our parents checking on our trials and tribulations, health, and change of clothes in case there was a change of weather. I wonder how many of my readers remember that? Johnson also mentioned that the school taxes in his area went up some 30 per cent last year. Will that go to the head of the parade, who is trying to make ends meet as time goes on, give up his little house in the country and pay high rents?

My readers bring me many magazines and newspapers, in one, they have a column by Marjorie Lewisman's Behind the Label, and she mentions that facial tissue and toilet tissues in colors may be harmful to some person's skin. It seems they are treated with a "formaldehyde resin" which may cause skin eruptions to users. I notice that manufacturers are coming out with "decorated" colors, floral designs besides the various bright colors, and the facial tissues in colors seem to have a different texture than the plain ones which I always look for and have a difficult time to find lately. Paper towels in colors do not seem so strong as the plain white one. The information Miss Lewisman gathered is from Dr. Harvey Neideroff, director of the Altoona Allergy and Dermatology Clinic in Chicago. I wonder if we are getting too fancy for our own good. There are a time one could get strong white paper towels, but at the time went on, they became more fragile and perhaps more beautiful, but I like the original strong white towels and facial tissues.

Many of these magazines cover "drives with a drive" for money, for various causes, even using names of famous people, perhaps not authorized. It may be interesting to learn that some one million dollars a day is spent by Americans on reducing items, be they pills or other devices. They do not seem to "melt off body fat" but they do make the pocket of the user lighter and the seller much happier and being able to afford to eat in the best restaurants the richest foods. Reducing pills, candy, capsules, tablets, crackers and liquids have become big business in America, and I bet some of those million dollar reducing concerns are run by drop-outs.

Baptists Will Hear Welfare Head at Dinner Wednesday

The Impact of Welfare Upon Us will be the topic of Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons Wednesday night, Sept. 28, during a program at First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway.

A smorgasbord dinner will start the program 6:30 o'clock under sponsorship of the Women's Council and Men's Club of the church.

Committee members arranging the event include Mrs. George Kennedy, chairman and the Mmes. Gordon Lee, Sherwood Lasher, Grover Lasher, Docas Woolsey, Norman Bowen and Edith Johnson.

Baby sitting arrangements will be provided in the church hall.

Another feature of Wednesday's program will be a special ceremony saluting Miss Lucinda Healy, long-time Sunday school teacher and worker of First Baptist Church.

A Woodstock township public official for many years, Mr. Fitzsimmons formerly served the town as supervisor.

Beginning his career of public service in August, 1944, with appointment to an unexpired term of justice of the peace, he was elected to that office in 1945 for a four-year term and re-elected in 1949.

Between 1949 and 1960, Mr. Fitzsimmons was elected three times as supervisor of the Town of Woodstock.

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
I should be doing housework right now, but I decided to take a few minutes out to share this hint.

I rarely replace broken zippers—I repair them!

My procedure is as follows:
When the zipper slide has broken away from the teeth, I pry open the slide with a screwdriver, run it down to the base of the zipper and slip it back over the teeth.

Then I squeeze it back together with a pair of pliers.
This works even when one or two teeth have broken off, and it has saved much money and time.

A Regular Reader

Yes, some zippers can be repaired this way.

You have to squeeze the zipper back to exactly the original spacing or it won't work properly.

Also, rubbing some dry soap or candle on the zipper runners will make it slide easier.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To renew suede shoes and handbags, buy a sheet of fine-grain emery cloth and cut it into two-inch squares.

Gently rub the emery cloth over the slick, worn spots on the shoes or bag, then the entire surface lightly.

Voilà! Like new!

Beiva

Dear Heloise:

After squeezing oranges, remove the membrane from inside the rinds, and run the peel through the food grinder several times.

Divide it into small portions, wrap in plastic wrap and store in freezer.

When a recipe calls for grated orange rind, you will have a supply on hand.

If you happen to have empty pill bottles, they make excellent containers for small quantities of the grated orange rind.

May Craighead

Dear Heloise:

I make very attractive coasters out of plastic lids from coffee cans by gluing small plastic doilies in the lids.

The coasters prevent marks on my furniture and are so easy to make.

Madge Williams

Dear Heloise:

I am no longer young, but this hint works well for me.

So I would like to help someone else and tell how I fasten my brassiere without straining by arm and shoulder.

I just turn my brassiere around and fasten it in front where I can see what I am doing.

Then I pull it around so the fasteners are in back, put my arms through the straps, and pull them up.

Maudie

Dear Heloise:

Here are two of my favorite uses for the little pinch-clothes pin.

Clip it to the little metal ring on those lightweight pant tops. Prevents burned fingers while cooking.

Rose Younger

Dear Heloise:

When using liquid bluing for your wash:

Take the little plastic cover off the opening of an empty soy sauce bottle. Clean the bottle, fill with bluing, and replace plastic cover and metal cap.

Then when you want bluing in your laundry, just remove the metal cap and shake out the desired amount.

Because of the small opening in the plastic cap of the bottle, there is less chance of getting too much bluing in the water.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Hail The Cheeseburger Hero!

Here's a hot and hearty new sandwich that's destined to be the hit of the season. Youngsters will love this tasty king-sized hamburger with cheese and tomato topping. Teen-agers will go for its zippy, pizza-like flavor, and the crusty French bread. And it's a sandwich a man could make a meal of! No wonder the Cheeseburger Hero is winning so many friends. It's a happy twist to the famous Italian hero sandwich with its layers of meats, cheese, and lots of flavor-makers from pickles to peppers.

This is a substantial sandwich big enough to be the main item at a family lunch or the star of a teen-age party. Make it the easy way with long loaves of French bread, cut lengthwise, brushed with butter and toasted. Parmesan cheese adds its unique flavor during a second trip to the oven. Then a flavorful ground beef mixture is spread thickly on the bread. It includes such Neapolitan touches as tomato paste, olives, sliced green onions, green pepper, oregano and garlic salt. Plus another measure of Parmesan cheese!

Garnish your hot sandwich with tomato slices and triangles of Cheddar cheese and pop back in the oven just long enough to start the cheese melting. Have relishes and refreshing cold milk ready to serve the moment these good sandwiches come out of the oven. The tops of the loaves of bread make a delicious accompaniment; they're also brushed with butter and Parmesan and lightly toasted.

Cheeseburger Hero

1 cup (1/2 stick) butter, melted
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 package (2 loaves) French Bread
1 pound ground beef
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
1 cup sliced green onions
1 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon leaf oregano
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
8 Cheddar cheese triangles, cut 2 x 2 x 2
3 tomato slices, cut in half

Combine butter and 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese; set aside. Cut bread loaves in half lengthwise; place cut side down on baking sheet in preheated 425 degree oven to brown about 10 minutes. Remove from oven; brush cut sides of bread with butter-cheese mixture and return to oven, cut side up, 5 additional minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Set top halves of bread aside. In a bowl mix together beef tomato paste, onions, olives, green pepper, 1/2 cu Parmesan cheese, oregano, garlic salt and pepper. Spread over bottom halves of bread. Place on baking sheet in oven; bake 30 minutes. Remove from oven; alternate 4 cheese triangles and 3 tomato halves on top of each meat roll. Return to oven with bread tops about 5 minutes or until cheese begins to melt. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

GIVE A NEW LOOK to the usual sandwich and a glass of milk. Make it a Cheeseburger Hero, with a zesty ground beef and Parmesan cheese mixture heaped on French bread. Top it off with tomato and Cheddar cheese slices.

Senior Seminar Program Launched

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 28, eighty senior high school students from Ulster County will meet at the State University College at New Paltz for their first session of the Senior Seminar Program. The evening's program will include welcoming words from Dr. William Haggerty, president, State University College, and from Dr. Richard Jones, Dean of the college. After the welcoming speeches, Mr. Leon Greenberg, coordinator for the program, will briefly explain the scope, character, and purpose of the Senior Seminar.

Highlighting the evening session will be Part I of two seminar sessions conducted by Dr. George O. Roberts, Professor, Division of Area Studies at State University College at New Paltz. The discussion topic will be Problems of Our Time: Conformity, Discrimination, and Apathy. Parents of the students have been invited to attend this orientation night. In the past, administrators and teachers from participating schools have been in attendance.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kubicek and daughter Marie Senior, are leaving Monday, Sept. 26 for Texas where they will visit their grandson and family of Lt. Robert A. Dykes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dykes of Prospect Street. The Kubiceks are also observing their 58th wedding anniversary.

David Ackerman Family Association Will Hold Reunion in Jersey on October 15th

Ackerman families of Dutch descent living in the Kingston area will be interested to learn that a family association "David Ackerman Descendants—1962" will hold its fifth annual reunion on Saturday, Oct. 15 in the old South Presbyterian Church, Bergenfield, N. J.

Eligible for membership are lineal descendants of David Ackerman (Akker Man), a Dutch schoolmaster from Berlicum, Holland, who settled in New Amsterdam two years before it was surrendered to the British in 1664, becoming New York City. The organization was formed in 1962 to mark the 300th anniversary of the arrival of the stalwart Dutchman in the New World with his wife and their six children.

The four sons of the original David later moved across the Hudson River to what is now Bergen County in New Jersey. There they and their descendants acquired large tracts of land which they farmed and upon which they built quaint Dutch homes of Jersey sandstone blocks with white wooden trim. Several of these are still standing.

Bergen County in New Jersey has the highest concentration of Ackerman descendants. However many have moved into neighboring counties and some family members are now living in most of the 50 states. At the forthcoming reunion it is expected that approximately half of the 400 members will be present, many coming from distant points.

Registration and a social hour, beginning at 9:30 a. m. will precede the annual business meeting which will be called to order at 11 a. m. by the president, Arthur F. Ackerman, M.D. of Summit, N. J. At 12:30 members will enjoy their picnic luncheon with dessert and beverages served by a group of ladies of the church.

A fascinating program featuring the life and times of David, one of the four sons of the original settler from Holland, will reveal much interesting information about this Dutch farmer who lived near Hackensack, New Jersey in the late 1600's. An illustrated talk on old Bergen County homes and churches of the period will be followed by a group pilgrimage to one of the most famous of the old landmarks.

The "D. A. D." Membership Committee is hoping to enroll as many additional Ackerman descendants as possible in connection with this fifth reunion. Many are known to be living in the Kingston area. They are urged to contact Samuel H. Ackerman, 1000 N. 10th St., Albany, N. Y. 12209.

Highland Rips SHS, 28-0; Oteora Topples Red Hook

Morano, Judge Lead Decision Over Sawyers

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Combining a brilliant ground game with a rock ribbed defense, Highland ruined the 1966 football debut of Saugerties High by whitewashing the Sawyers, 28-0, Saturday at the SHS gridiron.

The defending UCAL champions served notice on the league they are going to be tough to dethrone as they completely dominated play.

Mark Morano and Dave Judge, a couple of talented speedsters, beat the Sawyers from outside. John Indelicato and Charles Hicks powered their way for yardage up the middle. All in all, it was a good show.

The visitors went 51 yards in eight plays after putting the opening kickoff in play. Morano went the final 15 yards, shaking off three tacklers on his way to the end zone. Quarterback Greg Cappillino passed to end Tom Cantino for the extra point.

Judge carried the ball 42 yards late in the first period, setting up the second Highland score. It came on the third play of the second quarter with Hicks moving eight yards. He earned this TD as the snap from center was poor and the runner was forced to retreat to the 20 before starting his forward movement. Cappillino kicked the extra point.

78 Yards in 11 Plays
After stopping Saugerties early in the third session, the winners went 78 yards in 11 plays, most on the ground. Judge made the touchdown on a 15 yard trap play. Cappillino's boot made it a 21-0 game.

Mark Muscarella bounced on a Highland fumble on the SHS eight to stop a fourth quarter drive. This only stopped the visitors for a brief instant.

Morano scampered 20 yards with a punt to set up the fourth and final score. Cappillino hit Judge for 21 yards and then threw one yard to Ken Simone for the final touchdown. The lanky quarterback closed the scoring by splitting the uprights with his boot.

The Sawyers had a couple of drives but both were halted by pass interceptions near the goal line. Tony Konopka picked up some hefty rushing yardage for coach Fred Seither's eleven but the Highland line didn't give the other Sawyer operatives much of a chance to get untracked.

Morano and Judge combined for 226 yards in pacing the victory.

Star Act
New stars are added to the flag when a state is admitted to the Union. An Act of Congress of April 4, 1818, provides that a new star shall be added to the flag on July 4 following the admissions of a new state.

Worth Knowing
Gardner Hunting put into words this proven fact of human relations: "What you give out comes back to you."

It works, and nobody can stop it: no circumstance, no apparent handicap, no apparent misfortune, no "bad luck," no enemy, nobody who can stop it. What you begin giving out begins coming back. Any man, woman, or child can transform his life by transforming the thing he gives out. He said it well, and in business we try always to give out goodwill, personal consideration, value, and unusual service.

Fall Basketball Opener Tuesday

Opening games in the YMCA fall basketball league will be played Tuesday night. The first night pairings are: Jack's Barber Shop vs. Royal Grill, 7:15 p. m., and Food Fair vs. Spada's Sport Shop, 8:30 p. m.

Wednesday's games pit Spartan Pools against Yellow Jackets and Stone Ridge against Donnie Van's.

The league will operate with only one division this fall in a single round. The four top finishers will then engage in a single elimination tournament for the league championship.

Arlington Nips Newburgh, 7-0

Arlington checked Newburgh Free Academy with only 45 yards rushing and a minus 13 yards through the air and beat the Goldbacks, 7-0, Saturday in the Hilly City.

The Admirals, held to a 0-0 tie at halftime, scored the game's only touchdown in the third period, moving 65 yards. Quarterback Otto Distefano hit halfback Jeff Duplaka from the 11 with a pass. Fullback John Kurovski bucked for the PAT.

Duplaka stopped two NFA threats with pass interceptions. The final one stopped a Newburgh drive on the Arlington 25 with less than three minutes to play.

Fullback Fred Adams scored twice and the Blazers of Millbrook spoiled the New Paltz Central grid debut, 18-8, Saturday in Millbrook.

Aside from a third period safety and a four yard touchdown plunge by Jim Schiller, the Hugenots were helpless against a tough Millbrook defense. Adams ran 62 yards for the initial score. Warwick Wins 37-0 Over Rondout Valley

Rondout's plucky Ganders ran out of gas in the second half and were beaten, 37-0, by visiting Warwick Saturday in a non-league engagement.

The home side limited the Orange County powerhouse to a first quarter touchdown but gave up four scores after the intermission.

Quarterback Dick Beattie had a field day for the winners. He threw scoring passes of 3, 25 and 10 yards to end John Emerich, ran for two touchdowns and completed eight of 11 passes. His scores were on a 10 yard run and on a 40 yard scamper with an intercepted pass. Halfback Tom Luwes completed the Warwick scoring with a 35 yard gallop.

The Ganders picked up 122 yards along the ground but couldn't mount a sustained attack. Coach Chick Meehan's team didn't have the reserve strength to cope with the visitors.

PHS Wins, 7-0, Over Fallsmen
Don Smith's varsity coaching debut was a smash success Saturday at Wappingers Falls as Poughkeepsie nipped Wappingers Falls, the defending DCSL champions, 7-0, at the Falls gridiron.

The Pioneers combined a hard-nosed defense and a second quarter drive to upset the home squad.

Quarterback Craig Digilio hit end Rudy Jones for the game's only score just before the half-time interim. Jake Ellis bucked for the point.

For the rest of the tilt, Poughkeepsie kept the Fallsmen bottled up, limiting them to five first downs, 33 yards rushing and 99 passing yards.

Indians Use Passes to Gain 19-7 Triumph

Oteora Central scored on the second play of the game and used a devastating air attack to hand Red Hook a 19-7 non-league setback Saturday at the Boiceville field.

Coach Paul Jordan's quarterbacks — Charles Moore and Mickey Bush — had a hand in the scoring. Moore hit halfback Charles Fredericks with a pass shortly after the opening kickoff and Fredericks scored. The play covered 72 yards.

In the second stanza, Moore and halfback Pete Glass combined for a 48 yard scoring play and John Steethoff kicked the extra point.

Red Hook Tallies
The Hookers came back, driving downfield with Gerald Gardner tallying from the eight. Quarterback Bob Liebold sneaked in for the PAT.

Just before the end of the third quarter, Bush completed an 18 yard scoring pass to Fredericks.

With a two touchdown lead, the Oteora defense dug in, stopping Red Hook drives on the three and six yard lines in the final session.

Jordan cited Bill Guglielmini, Frank Raffaldi, Brian Kelly and Dale Chancey for yeoman work on defense.

Stamford Tops KSC

Unable to field a full team because of a rash of injuries and other reasons, the Kingston Sport Club Kickers were forced to play with ten men in a 4-1 defeat Sunday at Stamford, Conn.

An ankle injury to Lee Roberts just prior to the opening kickoff left the Kickers with 10 players.

Veteran Alex Dirks averted a Kingston shutout with a goal at the 52-minute mark. Two other Kingston attempts hit the crossbar.

Other results in the League Division Sunday were:
Bridgeport 9, American Czechs 2; White Plains 3, Kolsman 0; Spring Valley 2, Schwaben 1; West New York 2, Lithuanian 1; Bavarian 3, Yonkers 1.

The Kingston lineup:
Goal — Mencholas; LFB — Dirks; RHB — March; LHB — Fuchs; CHB — Vizvary; RHB — Lotze; OL — Reinhardt; IL — Vick; CF — Newmershinsky; IR — Facioli.

LPGA Champ
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Gloria Ehret of Danbury, Conn., is the Ladies' Professional Golf Association champion.

Miss Ehret won the Ladies' PGA Tournament Sunday with a score of 282, after finishing the fourth round with a four over par 75. She was awarded $2475.

Runner-up was Mickey Wright of Dallas whose final round 77 made a total of 285.

Recovered Treasure
Greatest depth from which sunken treasure has been recovered—using an observation chamber—was 475 feet in reaching the Niagara, sunk by a mine in 1940 off New Zealand. Of the eight tons of gold on board 95 per cent was recovered.

Allen's Brother In Strong Debut

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hank Allen, older brother of Philadelphia slugger Rich Allen, wound up his first week in the majors Sunday with a six-hit spree that led the Washington Senators to a 6-4, 2-1 doubleheader sweep over Chicago.

The rookie outfielder, promoted from the Senators' Hawaii farm club last week, lashed six hits in nine trips to the plate, driving in two runs in the opener and singling across the winning run in the 11th inning of the nightcap.

Overtaking Rich, who walked his 40th homer and three other hits for the Phillies Sunday, won't be easy for the 26-year-old newcomer, but Hank has made Washington go during his short stay.

He slugged a three-run homer in Friday night's 5-4 victory over the White Sox and has batted at a .417 clip, with 10 hits in 24-at-bats, since joining the Senators.

In Sunday's other games, California whipped AL champion Baltimore 6-1; Cleveland trimmed Kansas City 4-2; Minnesota nipped Detroit 1-0 and

New York beat Boston 3-1.

California snapped Baltimore rookie Tom Phoebus' two-game shutout streak in the first inning and went on to whip the Orioles behind Dean Chance's six-hit pitching and a three-run homer by rookie Charlie Vinson. Phoebus had pitched shutouts in his first two appearances, blanking Chance and the Angels in his debut Sept. 15.

The Indians scored three runs in the ninth, overtaking Kansas City after being checked for eight innings by rookie Jim Nash. Nash was yanked after walking the first man he faced in the ninth and the A's bullpen broke down as Max Alvis and Chico Salmon stroked run-scoring singles around Vic Davalillo's sacrifice fly.

Tony Oliva's 25th homer, a lead-off shot in the ninth, lifted Minnesota past the Tigers, breaking up a pitching duel between winner Jim Kaat, 25-11, and Detroit's Earl Wilson.

Steve Whitaker and Bill Bryan hit successive homers in the second inning, backing Jim Bouton's strong pitching as the Yankees outscored the Red Sox.

Clarkstown Tops Beacon, 26-19

Beacon High surrendered the pigskin three different times on fumbles and had three passes intercepted and lost a 26-9 decision to visiting Clarkstown Saturday in the opener for both clubs.

The visitors fell behind, 7-0, in the opening session as Burt Lunsford climaxed a 71 yard drive with a 20 yard run up the middle. Charlie Moore passed to Steve Quill for the PAT.

In the second period, Tom Dixon went over for a Clarkstown touchdown. This sent the Bulldogs into the locker room with a 7-6 lead at halftime.

Steve Moore tallied from the 13 in the third period but the rest of the game belonged to Clarkstown. The winners had a score in the third quarter and finished with two touchdowns in the final session.

Wallkill Bows To Pawling '11'

Pawling came from behind with a touchdown in the final minute of play to nip visiting Wallkill of the UCAL, 10-6, Saturday.

Kerry Aiken, who replaced his injured brother, sneaked in from the one with less than 30 seconds remaining to give his club the win.

Pawling picked up a couple of safeties in the second half. Wallkill came back with a touchdown when Bob Drutman hit Tom Mullen with a 34-yard pass to the one and then went through the middle.

The home side had a touchdown called back in the first half after Ron Russo had scampered 82 yards. A penalty nullified it.

Pennant Aspirants All Lose

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Holtzman can forget about Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers. People such as Chaucer and Elizabeth Barrett Browning are more important now.

But Koufax and the Dodgers won't soon forget Holtzman. The rookie left-hander out-pitched Koufax Sunday, holding the Dodgers hitless for eight innings and winding up with a two-hitter as the Chicago Cubs edged the National League leaders 2-1.

Despite the loss the Dodgers retained their 1½-game lead over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost to Atlanta 6-2. Third-place San Francisco remained four back by losing to Houston 5-4.

Holtzman's start was his last before returning to the University of Illinois where he is a senior majoring in English literature. He headed to school after pitching his best game of the season—a season which started out with him as a part-time player.

While attending classes in the spring he pitched for the Cubs on weekends. Still his 11 victories, against 15 defeats, are the most for a Chicago pitcher this year. His latest was too much for the Dodgers.

Until the ninth inning, the only Dodger baserunner was Dick Schofield, who walked in the third inning on a 3-2 pitch. Holtzman erased him on a double play so the 20-year-old southpaw had faced only the minimum 24 batters when Schofield led off the ninth with a single.

In other NL games, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 4-3 in 13 innings and New York dined Cincinnati 8-4 in the first game of a doubleheader. Rain washed out the second game.

Koufax, now 25-9, gave up just four hits and only one in the first inning when the Cubs scored both of their runs. Don Kessinger walked and scored on Glenn Beckert's triple. Beckert scored when second baseman Jim Lefebvre dropped Ernie Banks' two-out pop fly.

Aaron Slams Two
Hank Aaron hit two homers, giving him 42 for the season, and Mack Jones added his 21st as the Braves prevented the Pirates from moving up. The Pirates had the bases loaded and one out in the eighth inning, but Clay Carroll came on and stopped them with only one run.

Willie Mays and Willie McCovey gave Houston three unearned runs in the first two innings, but the Astros needed singles by Aaron Pointer, Bill Heath and Bob Aspromonte for the winning run in the sixth. That run broke a tie gained for the Giants by McCovey's two-run homer.

Philadelphia's Rich Allen hit his 40th homer in the fourth inning, singled home the tying run in the ninth and singled across the winning run in the 13th against St. Louis.

The Mets clinched ninth place by beating Cincinnati. Cleon Jones drove in three New York runs while Ron Swoboda and Greg Goossen knuckled in two each.

Free Berlin U. Kickers Top New Paltz 6-2

Free University of West Berlin scored two fast goals and went on to outclass State University of New Paltz, 6-2, in an international soccer exhibition Sunday at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field.

The beautifully coordinated German collegians ran up a 5-0 lead before Eugene Ventriglia, ace of the Hawk squad, connected for two goals in the third quarter.

Manfred Herforth scored three of the first four Berlin goals and Klaus Hartmann accounted for two others. New Paltz rallied after a bad first half and gave a good account of itself after the intermission.

In pre-game ceremonies, Al Miller, New Paltz coach welcomed the crowd and introduced Dr. Loren Campbell, director of athletics at State U., made the honorary kickoff. The national anthems of West Berlin and the United States were played.

To Play Sport Club
The West Berlin collegians, now on a U. S. tour, return to Oehler's next Sunday to meet the Kingston Sport Club in a charity exhibition game.

Berlin U. 2 3 0 1—6
New Paltz 0 2 0—2
Berlin goals—Herforth 3, Hartmann 2, Joeres 1; New Paltz—Ventriglia 2. New Paltz reserve, Iayesere.

NFL Roundup
By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Prentice Gault couldn't believe it, but the Cleveland Browns found it real enough.

With St. Louis and Cleveland tied 28-28 in the final quarter Sunday, Cardinal back Gault burst through the Browns' line and ran 23 yards for the score that gave St. Louis its 34-28 margin and raised its Eastern Division-leading NFL record to 3-0.

"It was a draw play and the blocking was beautiful," Gault said later in a jubilant St. Louis locker room. "No one touched me. I couldn't believe it."

After the touchdown, Cardinal extra-point kicker Jim Bakken missed his first point-after in 125 attempts and for a while it seemed as if it might cost St. Louis the ball game.

The Browns, who had blown a 28-14 lead, came roaring back to a first down on the St. Louis 11. Two of Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan's passes were incomplete and Ernie Green picked up a yard on a run. On the fourth-down play, Ryan threw at rookie Milt Morin in the end zone, but Cardinal defender Jerry Stovall reached in front of him and knocked it down.

Elsewhere in the league, Green Bay beat Los Angeles 24-13, Dallas took Minnesota 28-17, Baltimore bombed San Francisco 36-14, Detroit bounced Atlanta 28-10, Philadelphia smothered

Five TDs By Dawson

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Lew Dawson, who wasn't even listed among the American Football League's leaders last week, is batting a cool .600 today, a pretty good average for any pitcher.

Dawson gunned five touchdown passes, three of them to Chris Burford, as Kansas City routed Boston 43-24 for its third straight victory Sunday.

The Chiefs' attack moved mostly along the ground in Kansas City's first two triumphs with Dawson attempting only 28 passes and completing 16. Quarterbacks with less than 30 attempts were not included in the AFL list of top passers last week so Dawson missed the cutoff.

He's not likely to miss it this week.

Against the Patriots' Dawson completed 20 of the 32 passes he attempted for 220 yards.

Dawson, a 10-year pro, now has completed 36 for 60... a .600 percentage... and thrown 10 touchdown passes. He has gained 511 yards through the air.

Elsewhere in the AFL Sunday, New York and San Diego preserved their unbeaten records while Buffalo stepped back into the Eastern Division race.

The Jets, down 7-0 at the half, rallied to beat Denver 16-7.

San Diego got three interceptions from Speedy Duncan and defeated Oakland 25-20. Buffalo beat Houston 27-20 when Hagood Clarke intercepted a George Blanda pass with 27 seconds to play and returned it 66 yards for a TD.

Namath Hits Snell
Denver threw a scare into the Jets but two third period field goals by Jim Turner kept New York within striking distance and Joe Namath finally hit Matt Snell with a five-yarder in the final period for the winning score. Turner added another field goal after the TD.

Duncan's interceptions and John Hadl's solid quarterbacking led the Chargers to their third straight victory. Hadl ran for one TD, passed 19 yards to Jacques McKinnon for another and set up a third with a 44-yard aerial to Lance Alworth.

Clarke stole Blanda's 52nd pass of the game and raced into the Oiler end zone for Buffalo's winning TD against Houston.

The interception came with 27 seconds to play and then Clarke grabbed another Blanda pass with three seconds remaining, ending Houston's last hope.

The victory left Buffalo and Houston tied with 2-2 records in the East behind New York's 3-0, Kansas City and San Diego share the Western lead with 3-0 marks.

Rio Students Back In Classes Today
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Students returned to classes here and throughout most of Brazil today after 10 days of clashes with police.

In Sao Paulo, however, some faculties remained on strike and planned a meeting this afternoon to decide when they would return to classes.

In Rio de Janeiro, Student leaders were scheduled to confer with Raimundo Moniz de Aragao.

The government has been emphasizing the differences between the students' academic demands and the political turn of their demonstration last week.

The students have been protesting free public universities. They also have echoed growing dissatisfaction with the universities' limited capacities.

As the demonstrations raged throughout Brazil political elements were added to the student protests, with shouts of "Liberty, Liberty," and "Down with the dictatorship."

Klansman Faces Trial
HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas, already under a 10-year federal prison sentence, faces trial in state court today for the killing of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a civil rights worker.

But the call of the docket in Hayneville's century-old courthouse found the state seeking to dismiss an assault charge against a special deputy sheriff accused of wounding another civil rights worker in rural Lowndes County.

Attorney General Richmond Flowers, in personal command of both prosecutions, notified Circuit Judge Werth Thagard that he would ask to nolle prossé—dismiss without prosecution—the indictment against Thomas L. Coleman of Hayneville.

New Paltz To Present Master Plan

The New Paltz Branch of AAUW have announced it will hold a favorite dish supper for members only Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the cafeteria of the New Paltz Central School.

During the meeting following the supper, Mrs. Walter Luczal will present a resume of the master plan for the Village of New Paltz. Members will be given an opportunity to join a study group for further examination of this village master plan.

The speaker will be Mrs. Helen Ludolph of Hyde Park. Her topic will be Your Landscaping and Its Effect on Community Planning. Mrs. Ludolph is a native of California and a graduate of San Francisco State College. She is landscape design chairman of the Poughkeepsie Garden Club. Mrs. Ludolph attended the first and each subsequent yearly session of the New York State Landscape Design School. She holds both state and national certificates as a critic and appraiser of landscape design.

Ranch Date Adds Speculation About Lynda's Romance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson's daughter Lynda Bird and actor George Hamilton had a water-skiing, picnicking ranch date in Texas over the weekend and speculation heightened about their romance.

They were gay, smiling companions at the Johnson ranch but gave no hint of anything more serious than just another date.

Hamilton, 26, and Lynda, 22, flew to Texas from Hollywood to join a Johnson family reunion at the ranch with newweds Luci and Patrick J. Nugent and Nugent's brother, Marine Lt. Gerard P. Nugent Jr., just back from Viet Nam duty and vacationing with his wife, Phyllis.

The presence of Hamilton in this close family group was what gave a bit more importance to this weekend date. He was with the Johnsons on their flight back to the capital early today.

Teamsters Endorse Romney, Williams
DETROIT (AP) — Republican Gov. George Romney got enthusiastic endorsement from Michigan Teamsters Sunday while a "lesser-of-two evils" nod went to Democratic U.S. senatorial candidate G. Mennen Williams.

Teamsters President called Romney "the best governor for the working man since Frank Murphy," Democrat "played a key role in the start of the United Auto Workers in the 1930s."

While praising Romney, Hofa showed why distaste for Williams in telling 1,800 Detroit-area Teamsters leaders of endorsements by Michigan Drive, the political arm of the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

Williams received news of the endorsement with slight enthusiasm. Romney said he didn't approve of endorsements by "economic organizations" and that he didn't approve of Hofa's tactics.

Minister Turned Derelict Dies of Burns by Youths
NEW YORK (AP) — Leonard Benton Jr., an ordained minister whose life had drifted onto the Bowery, died Sunday of burns suffered last week when teen-agers doused him with kerosene and set him afire.

The derelict, 51, one of three men similarly attacked in the space of a week, was taken to a hospital last Monday from an off-Bowery doorway where he had been sleeping on a pad of cardboard cartons when attacked.

He was burned over 75 percent of his body. Five youngsters, ranging in age from 12 to 15, were arrested the next day in connection with the incident and charged as juvenile delinquents.

From his home in Kentucky, Benton's father, Leonard Sr., said his son had left for the city 13 years ago after he "got in with the wrong crowd and got to drinking."

The elder Benton said his son was ordained as a minister in the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) and preached in "some small churches" in Kentucky.

GOP Ready With Own Version of Antipoverty Plan

By JOHN BECKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are ready with their own antipoverty plan today as the administration's much-criticized program finally reached the House floor.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says the GOP plan would cost the government less than half as much.

The Michigan Republican said in an interview the GOP's so-called equal opportunity bill would cost about $1.75 billion, of which $750 million would be paid by state and local governments and private industry.

The administration bill, which would carry the war on poverty into its third year, would cost $1.75 billion — all in federal funds.

Ford said the GOP plan, to be introduced this week, is a concrete example of the Republicans' drive to cut federal spending. He said cuts are imperative.

Ford declined to speculate on the GOP bill's chances for enactment.

Democratic House leaders predict the administration bill will pass by a narrow margin in spite of rough opposition.

The administration bill comes to the House floor after a long delay while Congress is working on several major bills in a drive toward mid-October adjournment.

Capitol News In Brief

Mac Notes Progress
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is very close to establishing a permanent group to supervise a common nuclear defense.

Arriving here early today from a meeting in Rome with defense ministers of four NATO nations, McNamara said more progress has been made toward sharing nuclear defense responsibility in the last five months than in the last five years.

The ministers completed Friday arrangements to give the NATO allies of the United States more responsibility in the nuclear defense of Western Europe.

The arrangements were not disclosed, but were said to encompass a proposed chain of commands across Europe to control the nuclear arsenal made available by the United States.

Ask U.S. to Keep Money, Rather Do It by Themselves
RYE, N.Y. (AP) — A group of do-it-yourselfers who live on this city's "most blighted block" have asked Washington to keep $750,000 in urban renewal funds. They promised to spruce up the place themselves.

Banding together as the Rye United Improvement Committee, the group appealed to Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to reject the city fathers' request for renewal funds.

The Rye Planning Commission calls the block containing 52 cottage-like houses the most blighted area in the city and contends it is a bad influence on the surrounding areas.

The houses date from the early part of the century, when they were built as summer beach cottages. Most of the cottages have since been converted to year-round use.

Residents of the block say they've started their own cleanup campaign, and point to eight uninhabited cottages which they tore down at their own expense.

The basic issue, the residents say, is that they would not be able to afford to live in their neighborhood any longer if the renewal plan went through.

SAUGERTIES NEWS B of E Session

Stresses Adult Education; Appoints Advisory Group
Saugerties Board of Education met last week to approve a policy statement for Adult or Continuing Education and to grant permission to make payroll deductions for payment of professional dues and for repayment of New York State teacher retirement loans.

The resignations of two teachers and one other employee were accepted, and four teachers and several other appointments were made.

The policy for Continuing Education includes a statement of purpose as follows: "As American society has become more complex, as the personal and public questions confronting the individual have become more difficult, as the consequences of his decisions have become more widely ramifying, it has become more urgent that the potentialities of each individual be fully realized. (Continuing Education for Adults in the State of New York, University of the State of New York, The State Education Department, Albany 1960.) To do this, a richly furnished adult education is required.

Cunningham Is Head
The Continuing Education program will be headed by Administrative Assistant, David Cunningham. An Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of business, industry, education and civic leaders will assist the director in planning the program. Serving on the Advisory Committee are: Joseph Croft, Mrs. Robert Bailey, William Waldele, Robert Moser, Leon McLaughlin, Richard Thornton, Robert Russell, Miss Nancy Whitman and Mrs. Robert Carnright.

22 SHS Seniors Attend Seminar
In reporting to the Board of Education of the Saugerties Central School District at its meeting last week, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, said 22 Saugerties High School seniors had been accepted for Senior Seminar, conducted by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster County. The State University College at New Paltz cooperates with BOCES in this project for seniors who have placed among the top 8 per cent in the nation on the National Merit Examination.

Participating from Saugerties will be: Dona J. Becker, Janice A. Garrison, Christine L. Harder, David N. Ellis, Robert A. Emery, Eva Marie Graham, Linda J. Reese, Marsha L. Suenram, Dean F. Bryden, Christine L. Olsen, Joseph F. Amato, Thomas G. Anderson, Katherine Carnright, Karen M. Holloran, Joseph McCutcheon, Mark D. Rodriguez, Cynthia L. Bernard, Michael W. Kozenko, Mark Muscarella, Ann M. Sperl, Steven Martello and Carol Wrolsen.

At the outset of the board meeting, Dr. Arnold included Administrative Assistant David Cunningham, Senior High School Principal George Hamaty and Junior High School Principal Robert Moser as administrators in new positions. He noted that the plan to separate the Junior-Senior High School into two separate units had been approved by the board several years ago upon his recommendation in anticipation of the increasing size of the Junior-Senior High School population. The need for establishing the position of administration assistant had been predicted at that time. The three administrators reported on their plans and progress.

According to the superintendent, plans for a dedication ceremony of the flag staff in honor of Captain Roger Donlon and the memorial field are in process. Stone markers have been placed, the flag pole erected and a walk from the parking area to the football stands completed. It is hoped that ceremonies can be conducted at one of the home football games during the coming season and Captain Donlon has been contacted to determine if he can be present. Plans will be announced as soon as completed.

Reports on Meeting
Dr. Arnold reported on a recent meeting of the Commissioner's Advisory Council of Superintendents. He has been appointed to represent city and village superintendents in Judicial District No. 3 in the counties of Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster.

The addition to the Glasco school site upon which the Board of Education holds an option has been approved by the State Education Department. As soon as possible, voters of Saugerties will be asked to approve a bond issue to provide the district this site and additions to Glasco and Mt. Marion schools. Preliminary sketches are in Albany awaiting approval.

Opening enrollments on the first day of school, according to the superintendent, total 3,760 pupils which was 25 pupils short of his prediction of 3,785. It is expected that the estimated total will be reached in the next month or two. Enrollments by individual schools were: Senior High School 631, Junior High 776, Main Street 782, Glasco 201, Mt. Marion 480, Moser 743 and Maiden 47.

Kindergarten breakdown indicates: Kindergarten 407, Grade one 356, Grade two 325, Grade three 332, Grade four 339, Grade five 283, Grade six 282, Grade seven 282, Grade eight 235, Grade nine 284, Grade ten 242, Grade eleven 213, Grade twelve 176; and 54 enrolled in special classes.

WOMAN'S CLUB OPENS SEASON—In the first of a series of eight meetings which will see famed authors and editors coming to Saugerties to speak, the Woman's Club of Saugerties last week presented Mrs. Constante V. Batton, wife of the Consul General from the Philippine Embassy, Washington, D. C. Prior to departing for the Dutch Arms Chapel, where Mrs. Batton spoke to a large crowd on the topic, "Bouquet from the Philippines." Woman's Club officers posed with her at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold. Pictured (l-r) are Mrs. James Pratt, chairman of the Home Department of the club; Mrs. Henry Bronbach, second vice-president; the beautifully gowned guest speaker; and Mrs. David Groff, president. SAFE GUN HANDLING CLASS—The first session of a class of youngsters seeking their initial hunting license was held last Thursday night at Saugerties Town Hall. The class session held Thursday was followed by the final session Friday at an outdoor rifle range. Instructors rear (l-r) are Charles P. Riley, Philip M. Breithaupt Jr., and Herbert Hommel. Riley and Hommel are members of Saugerties Town Police. Applicants who successfully completed the two-day course were issued hunting licenses. Another two-session class of the same type will be held this coming Thursday and Friday at 7 p. m. in Town Hall. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Proposition No. 1 On Autumn Ballot To Effect Malden

Saugerties voters have a special, vested interest in Proposition Number One on the voting machine for statewide voter decision at the general election Nov. 8. This proposition would authorize the State of New York to borrow $200 million through the sale of bonds for the development and acquisition of lands for outdoor recreation.

Passage or defeat of the proposition will directly effect the development of the proposed state recreational facility in the Town of Saugerties in the Malden area.

This Malden park facility, to be known as the "Bristol Recreational Area," is a 73-acre site along the Hudson River at Malden just north of the Village of Saugerties and is slated to be developed into a bathing beach, picnic area and boat launching site.

The bulk of the proposed park land was donated to the state by Terry Staples of Malden-on-Hudson. Under a prior voter approved $100 million bond debt for the purchase of land for park and recreational facilities, the state completed acquisition of a few additional parcels of land needed for proper access to the area in 1965.

Needs Developing
Although the Bristol park lands now belong to the state, facilities there cannot be developed unless Proposition Number One is approved this fall. It is important, therefore, that local voters realize that in voting "yes" on Proposition Number One, they will actually be voting for better recreation right here in Saugerties, as well as in many other places throughout the state.

The Bristol park is a matter of public concern locally and provision for its future accomplishment should be made now. That future will be assured if Proposition Number One is passed this November.

Set College Night At SHS October 11
The eighth annual Ulster County College Night program sponsored by Ulster County Guidance Association will be held at Saugerties High School Tuesday, Oct. 11 at 7:30 p. m. Approximately 50 college admissions officers will be present to provide information concerning their institutions. Sophomores, juniors and seniors of Ellenville, Highland, Marlboro, New Paltz, Ontonagon, Rondout Valley, Saugerties and Wallkill High Schools and their parents are invited to attend. Advance registration is required. Registrations will be accepted during the week of September 26th by the guidance counselors of each of the participating schools. There will be three discussion periods of 35 minutes each beginning at 7:30 p. m. so that during the evening a person may hear three college representatives. A dinner for speakers and counselors will be held preceding the conference periods. The Ulster County College Night program is under the supervision of James A. Chase, guidance counselor at Saugerties High School.

Set Pump Course For Area Firemen
Saugerties area firemen will participate in a pump operators course this week. The course will be taught by Chief George Garmon, of the Ellenville Fire Department at the Saugerties Fire Station, Partition Street, Tuesday, beginning at 8 p. m.

G. H. Warringer, second assistant chief of the Saugerties Fire Department, urges all area firemen to attend the course.

Clothing Drive Conducted Here

Good used clothing is now being collected by churches of the Saugerties area for the work of Church World Service. According to the Saugerties Area Council of Churches, clothing should be brought to any church listed below prior to Monday, Oct. 7. On that date, clothing will be brought by each church to the clothing center at Reformed Church of Saugerties, where a truck from Church World Service will pick up the clothing and bring it to the distribution center for sorting and packing.

Persons in the community are reminded that either summer or winter clothing may be brought because Church World Service functions throughout the world. Men's and boy's clothing such as suits, trousers, work clothing and shoes are needed. Ladies clothing such as dresses, skirts, sweaters, shoes and robes are always welcome. For children, caps, mufflers, layettes, underwear, infant's wear and children's shoes are important.

Particularly needed at this time is children's clothing for Vietnamese youngsters. From infancy to adulthood, these children wear clothing that resembles pajamas worn by American children. Sturdy cotton pajamas in sizes that would fit American children from two to 10 years are needed. Boys wear prints, plaids or stripes. Girls wear flowered or figured prints.

All clothing should be in good condition and ready to wear. All shoes should be tied together in pairs with the laces.

Churches participating in the clothing appeal in the Saugerties area include: Saugerties Methodist Church; Saugerties Reformed Church; Blue Mountain Reformed Church; Katsbaan Reformed Church; Congregational Church of Saugerties; St. Paul's Lutheran Church at West Camp; Malden Methodist Church; Quarryville Methodist Church at Mt. Marion; Flatbush Reformed Church, and Trinity Episcopal Church.

City Man Is Cited In Rt. 28 Accident

Alan Berner, 23, of Albany Avenue, city, was cited by State Trooper Fred Cooper of the Kingston substation, after his car crashed through guard rails and over an embankment at 2:20 a. m. Saturday.

The mishap occurred on Route 28 west of Route 375, Town of Olive, according to Trooper Thomas Searles. Berner was summoned to appear before Justice of the Peace Frank Carl, Town of Olive, to face a charge of driving a car without an inspection sticker.

Berner told Trooper Cooper he was driving east when he saw a deer standing on the east bound lane. He said he swerved to avoid the deer and the car hit a soft shoulder causing him to lose control.

Cool Period Area Outlook

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Tuesday through Saturday:

It will be rather cool most of the week, with some moderation the first half followed by a cooler trend during the latter half of the week. Nights will be cool. Temperatures will be generally a few degrees below normal.

Some rain showers are expected Wednesday into Thursday, with amounts up to one half inch likely. Daytime high temperatures will range mainly from the middle 50s to low 60s. Night time lows will be in the upper 30s and 40s most nights, but possibly at or below freezing late in the week.

Set Press Parley For Visit Here of Wilson, Duryea

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County announced today that both Lieutenant Governor Malcolm Wilson and Assemblyman Perry B. Duryea Jr., GOP minority leader of the State Assembly, will be visiting the county this Wednesday for a joint press conference at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. Following the meeting with the press, both of the top state legislators will go to the Ulster County Community College to take part in a college forum on the subject of higher education.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, members of the press and radio from throughout the area have been invited to attend Wednesday's press conference, and to discuss various state problems with Lieutenant Governor Wilson and Assemblyman Duryea. Wilson said the two state legislators will outline the more important aspects of the 1966 legislative session, as well as the Republican record of accomplishment during the past eight years. There will be a question and answer session with the members of the press.

After the press conference is concluded, both the lieutenant governor and the Assembly minority leader will go to the Ulster County Community College where they will address the student body at a college forum sponsored by the college's student government. Assemblyman Wilson said that the primary topic of discussion at the college forum will be New York State's role in higher education, and that both Lieutenant Governor Wilson and Assemblyman Duryea will outline the various ways in which the state has developed programs to assure every young person in New York State the opportunity of better equipping themselves for a more productive role in life through higher education.

Among these subjects will be the development of the State University system, the expansion of the local community college program, and the direct assistance to students through the State's Regents Scholarship program and the Scholar Incentive program.

Ulster Dump to End Summer Schedule

The summer schedule for opening of the Town of Ulster dump will terminate after this week, and the regular schedule will be resumed. During the summer months the town dump has been open from 6 to 7:30 p. m. on Wednesdays. This summer hour will be terminated and the regular hours will be resumed after Sept. 28.

Regular hours are from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday and on Saturday from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. The additional hours on Wednesdays during the summer months were granted in order to accommodate residents of the town during the long days of summer.

Injured in Crash

Miss Yolanda Green, 19, of Weber Lane, Olivebridge, was injured after 8 a. m. today when her car went off that road and into a ditch. Miss Green walked back to her home and later was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance and treated for head, chest and leg injuries, an attendant reported.

Lefkowitz Calls For Self-Policing By Business Heads

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, seeking re-election this fall on the Democratic ticket, urged state businessmen to maintain high ethical standards in their relations with the public in a speech before the Empire State Petroleum and Fuel Merchants at the Nevele Hotel, Elmhurst, Lefkowitz said: "An atmosphere of faith and confidence in business is essential to its continued growth. Unless every segment of business fosters a respect for the highest standards of ethics in its dealings with the public, the entire industry will suffer the loss of public confidence in its integrity. "In the growth and development of American business, it has been almost axiomatic that success over a long period of time has been the heritage of those who have dealt honestly and openly with the public and have always given a full measure of value and quality.

"In the life of every business, be it large or small, the activities of a small fringe element which has failed to seek the respect of the community, have had a detrimental effect on the reputation of the industry as a whole.

"For this reason, if not for the sake of honest dealing with the public, all businessmen and those engaged in the professions, must act to police their own practices so that the finger of distrust never can be pointed at them. More and more, businessmen are realizing that they can do much, without governmental regulation, to bring about complete adherence to ethical practices and thus effect a measure of self-control and self-regulation. However, when business fails to police itself government is compelled to step in and enforce honest dealing in the public interest.

"It is my duty and the duty of all law enforcement agencies to help strengthen the free enterprise system. These agencies must act promptly to protect business and legitimate industry. The responsible businessman must accept his own obligation to bring about meaningful self regulation in order to maintain integrity in the marketplace."

"It is my duty and the duty of all law enforcement agencies to help strengthen the free enterprise system. These agencies must act promptly to protect business and legitimate industry. Fish Says Farm Plight Is Fault Of Demo Congress

"Where was Congress?" is becoming a rallying cry of the people of the 28th District as they see milk prices rise and milk farmers get poorer; food prices soaring, and their dollars buying less; Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican Candidate for Congress pointed out today.

"Milk production on New York farms was down six per cent in August, according to the New York Crop Reporting Service, Fish went on. And dairying is the most important agricultural industry in the state."

Phase Out Farmers

"All year long the administration has gone about its policy of dumping the surpluses to force back prices and force out farmers, holding back on the prices of milk, keeping out of the country the experienced laborer who normally picks the crops, holding back acreage for feed grains. In short, phasing out the farmer."

"Where was Congress?" "Now," Fish continued, "an election is coming and an effort is being made to appease the voter on the part of both the administration and its Rubber Stamp Resnick. But, wholesale food prices rose 1.3 per cent in August and the government reports impending new price increases on the retail level."

"Where, oh, where is Congress?" "We know where Resnick is, he's missing the voting in Congress as usual — he's missed 37 per cent of the voting in Congress this year. This is true to form, he missed 38 per cent of the votes in 1965, and 42 per cent of the roll call votes."

"The way the public is being misled and the problems mis-handled by my opponent constitutes a fraud on the people of this District," Fish commented.

August 17, the Democratic incumbent told a press conference in his office in Washington that he would introduce a series of bills to aid the milk producer and to eliminate what he believed might include rationing of milk and milk products.

"That was last Aug. 17, this is Sept. 23, and no such bills have been introduced. Last Monday the calendar of the House of Representatives Agriculture Committee showed no mention of the bills," Fish stated.

"Surely, my opponent meant to introduce the bills, didn't he? Or was he just using the means to gain publicity for himself without any intention of introducing the bills?"

"He has used the farmer enough for his publicity purposes. I wonder what group of Hudson Valley citizens he will use next?" Fish pondered.

Pointing out that this nation, whose gold is being drained away, increased importation of European cheese last year while discouraging domestic milk production Fish himself asks "Where was Congress?"

Called American Tragedy

"This nation is still pursuing policies based on fighting farm surpluses," Fish pointed out these are the problems of yesterday. It was only January 1965, that President Lyndon Baines Johnson, in his budget message, called for the removal of 2½ million farm families from the farms of America. The loss of the small farm is an American Tragedy. The speeding up of this tragedy has become a national policy. "Where was Congress?"

"It is true," he went on, "that Republican Congressmen protested this backward looking policy — in whole or in part — but they were outnumbered two and a half to one in the House and two to one in the Senate."

"The extraordinary productivity of the American farmer and the ability of the American people to provide much of the food which the earth's hungry millions need is one of the greatest assets upon which American Foreign policy is based. Other kinds of aid may be preemptorily refused. Few governments can turn their backs on food."

"Yet, this administration has bargained away, in foreign trade agreements, the well being of the American farmer and this great asset of American foreign policy. Mr. Fish said. "Where was Congress?"
